WAR ON GERMAN
GOVERNMENTConservative Party Issues
Proclamation Signed by HeydebrandIntends to Use Whole
Strength to Re-establish the MonarchyLONDON, July 5.—The German conservative party has issued a proclamation, signed by Ernst von Heydebrand, the party's leader in the Reichstag, stating that the party "declares war on the government and intends to use its whole strength to re-establish the monarchy," according to a Copenhagen despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Co.

BREWERY GETS LICENSE

The license commission this morning issued a brewer's license to the Harvard Co. to be effective until Jan.
15, 1919. The fee was $1700. This gives the company the right to manufacture beer under the regulations laid down by the federal government.
Across the license issued this morning were the words: "Subject to federal regulations."DECLINE THIS WEEK IN LOWELL'S DEATH RATEThere was a decline in Lowell's death rate this week, a total of 22 deaths being registered at the board of health office in comparison with 35 and 24 for the preceding weeks.
The rates for the three weeks were 10.59, 17.33 and 11.56, respectively.
There were five deaths of children under five years of age, and four of children under one. Infectious diseases caused three deaths, bronchitis, one; diphtheria, one; and tuberculosis, one. Infectious diseases reported included diphtheria, three;
scarlet fever, two; measles, five, and tuberculosis, 11.LOCAL LIQUOR DEALERS ASK INFORMATIONIn an effort to determine what the attitude of local authorities is in the matter of the continuation of the sale of beer of not more than 2.5 per cent. alcohol and what arrangements should be made about obtaining licenses for the purpose, representatives of the Lowell Liquor Dealers' association held an informal conference with City Solicitor William D. Regan in the mayor's reception room at city hall this morning and after discussing the matter at length it was decided that the local license commission, on request of the association, should submit a query to the city solicitor asking for a formal opinion as to whether local liquor dealers may surrender one class of license and later take out another in the interim between now and Jan. 15, 1920.The uncertainty of the situation caused by the failure of the supreme court to decide to date whether 2.5
per cent. alcoholic beer is intoxicating and also the possibility of the entire prohibition being lifted by the president declaring that the troops are demobilized was the reason for the liquor dealers wish to get a clear idea of what procedure to take locally.Present at the conference were City Solicitor Regan, Mayor Perry D. Thompson, Supt. Redmond Welch of the police department, Commissioner George E.
Marchand, Charles H. Hanson, chairman, and Joseph H. McGrath and Geo.
E. Putnam of the license commission.
Anthony A. Conway, John H. Cull, Chas.
L. Marren, Hosiery Sales Gervais and John J. Gallagher of the Lowell Liquor Dealers' association.Mr. Regan said that the burden of interpreting the federal law is on the local license commission. He pointed out that the present prohibition law is a war measure and that when the treaty of peace is ratified the war powers of congress are at an end. He saidTHE LOWELL SUNDAY NEWS

Acts of German Main
Headquarters Since 1916Also Proclamations Issued by Kaiser Concerning the
Waging of WarfareLONDON, July 5.—Field Marshal von Hindenburg, former chief of the German staff, declares that he is responsible for acts of German main headquarters since August, 1916, and also the proclamations of German Emperor William concerning the waging of warfare. He asks President Ebert of Germany to inform the allies to this effect, according to a Copenhagen despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Co. The field marshal arrived in Hanover yesterday and telegraphed the following message to President Ebert:"The signing of the peace treaty gives me occasion for declaring that I was responsible for the decisions and acts of main headquarters since Aug.
29, 1916, and also that all proclamations and orders of His Majesty the Emperor and King, concerning the waging of warfare were issued upon my advice and upon my responsibility.
I beg you, therefore, to inform the German people and the allied governments of this declaration."This is the second assumption of responsibility since it was officially announced that the allies purposed to place on trial political and military leaders of Germany for causing the war and for violations of the warfare. Dr.
Theobald von Bethmann-Hollweg, former German chancellor, who held office at the beginning of the war, had previously announced he was responsible for the official acts of the emperor.that ordinarily congressional laws are enforced by federal authority, i. e., the collection of internal revenue taxes, enforcement of postal regulations, etc.
The local police department does not take the initiative in such matters although it may make arrests if requested by the federal authorities.Mr. Marren said that the liquor dealers merely wanted to know what to tell their employees. Most of them are continuing their bartenders on their payroll and they would like to know whether to continue to do so.Mr. McGrath said that the commission had issued a brewer's license to the Harvard Co. and that across the face of it was written "Subject to federal regulations." That is the attitude of the commission at the present time, he said.Mr. Regan said that if the dealers should wait until the ban was lifted it would be his informal opinion that they should apply for an extension of the licenses granted them in April of this year, not a new license.Mr. Conway said that the association felt that the local authorities should assume the same attitude as the authorities of Atlantic City and leave the burden of enforcement up to the federal authorities unless there comes a request for action by the department of justice.Mr. Marren asked Mayor Thompson if the license commission should grant a local dealer a new license whether there should be any interference on the part of the local police department. The mayor said that he would answer the question at a later date.It was finally decided to ask the solicitor for an opinion on the matter, the request to be made in writing by the license commission. This was done this afternoon and the city solicitor may have his opinion ready before the first of the week.

Barely has appreciation been ex-

attire that formed an avenue of color and patriotism for some 4000 marchers in the morning parade, the day's high light.It was one of the hottest Fourth of Jays on record locally and recalled aprevious exceptional hot Fourth some six or seven years ago. But the heat didn't mar the day's program a bit; everything was carried out as per schedule and the thousands on the sidewalks as the parade passed gave evidence of the stuff of which Lowell people are made.The day was a long one for the hon-uniform. There was a smoker and en-with petroleum, gasoline, wine, beer and olive oil.Wherever the chamber of labor was able to exercise authority, goods were

Money taken from shops was placed

AUTO THIEFMan Speeded Over 60 Miles of Cape Cod Roads Defying SheriffsFinally Caught at Sandwich
When Officers Punctured
Tires With ShotgunsSANDWICH, Mass., July 5.—After speeding 60 miles over Cape Cod roads from Provincetown in a stolen automobile truck, defying sheriffs who fired four shots at him at Barnstable, a man named Elwell was stopped here today when officers punctured the rear tires of the truck with shotguns. The man was wounded by the shot which struck him in the left arm and was taken to St. Luke's hospital at New Bedford. His wounds were not serious.
The truck was taken from a fish freezing plant at Provincetown early this morning. Word of the theft was sent along the cape by telephone, and sheriffs stood guard at the cross roads in an effort to arrest the driver. He refused to obey commands to stop. At Barnstable, on orders from High Sheriff Henry E. M. Percival deputies fired four shots but the fugitive continued his flight.When Officer M. J. Murphy of Sandwich was notified of the truck's approach, he sent his son, Joseph, a returned soldier, and W. A. Windsor, another deputy, down the road with shotguns, and took station himself, also armed, a hundred yards nearer the course of the machine. His order to stop being disregarded by the fugitive, Officer Murphy ordered the men to fire at the rear wheels. Each found his mark, and some of the scattering shot struck the driver, with the result that the truck ran into a park out of control, and the man was captured.

claimed his engine was within 50 feet of the crossing, which he described as an extremely blind one, when he saw the automobile shoot up a steep in-later the engine struck it. Although the brakes were applied the train was not stopped until it had gone 300 feet beyond the crossing.

Lowell Pays Tribute

Continued

Donnelly, George Merritt and Mrs. Mary Dillon Doherty. Thomas Kehoe was the accompanist. There also was solo dancing by the Dewire sisters, who have been favorites with the soldiers at Camp Devens during the past months, at all the entertainments given there.

The Big Parade

The big morning parade was not the longest ever seen in Lowell by any means, but its intrinsic significance as a welcome home to the city's heroines made its quality such to counteract any quantitative defects. Even at that, there were some 4000 in line and few broke ranks until the end of the route had been reached, a most commendable record in view of the day's heat. The world war veterans didn't come out full strength by any means but there was a genuinely representative delegation present with overseas men in the majority.

Exactly at 9 o'clock Chief Marshal Gardner W. Pearson gave the command that started things up at Westford and Chelmsford streets. The various units had been forming and reforming on the neighboring streets for an hour or so and when the appointed hour came there was no delay. From Westford and Chelmsford streets the marchers made their way to Thorndike, Highland, Locke, Gorham, Central and Merrimack streets. It was reviewed at city hall by municipal and other officials and again at Cabot street by the world war veterans themselves. Just about three quarters of an hour it took for the entire spectacle to pass a given point.

The Motorcycle Division

One of the features of the parade was the motorcycle division, which acted as an advance guard to the several thousand marchers, closely followed by a group of bicyclists. There were over 50 machines in line, for most of them a very fine appearance, for most of them were handsomely decorated, while several had been converted into veritable floats. The motors assembled on the boulevard at 7:30 o'clock in the morning and after being given their places in line by the chief marshal, Lieut. Harold Dyer and the chief of staff, Sam Parent, the machines were lined up and photographed. The start for the armory was made at 8:50 o'clock and the men arrived in time to take their places in the front of the parade.

Lieut. Dyer attired in his military uniform and wearing the Sam Brown belt, headed the line and was closely followed by his chief of staff, Sam S. Parent, who represented Uncle Sam and operated his own car. Seated in his sidecar was Mrs. Parent representing Miss Columbia. One of the prettiest floats of this division was the machine operated by George H. Marquette, which had been given an airplane effect of many colors. Occupying the sidecar of this machine was Joseph Maso and both were attired in military uniform. Daniel Aguilar and Miss Blanche Mortimer, both attired as Indians, occupied a handsome Indian motorcycle. Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Bordelean rode in a car handsomely decorated with Japanese colors.

During the entire course of the parade the motorcycles were operated with the mufflers open and the racket caused by the gasoline explosions in the various engines could be heard a great distance and served as a signal to the many spectators that the parade was approaching.

The aides in the motorcycle division were Thomas Jones, Melvin Master, Richard Phillips and Albert Lundgren. Directly behind the motorcycleists came Sergt. Louis Buschbaum, commander of the mounted scouts, and he was followed by Lieut. Martin Connors, commanding a platoon of police. The Lowell Cadet band furnished the first music of the morning and in the preliminary division was an automobile containing Frank W. Stearns of Boston, a close personal friend of Governor Coolidge, who came in the latter's absence. The Dewire sisters, representing Uncle Sam and Columbia, were in his machine.

The bicycle division was headed by Chief Marshal Alexandre Perreault, while the chief of staff was William R. Laporte. The aides were Ralph Jacques and Alfred Laporte. There were about 50 bicycles in line and with their decorations of red, white and blue, made a very fine showing. There were numerous prizes offered for the best decorated machines and bicycles and the winners will be announced in the early part of next week.

The First Division

Col. Charles A. Stevens commanded the first division made up of veterans of the Civil, Spanish and world wars. His staff was made up of representatives of the three organizations including all the medical men of the world war who turned out for the parade.

Lieut. Horace Desllets, acting major of the local state guard battalion, commanded two companies of the 11th regiment, D. and G. Lieut. Vallerand led Co. B and Lieut. Edward Daly Co. G.

The Civil war veterans turned out six members who rode in a machine near the head of the division. Commander William Prescott led the Spanish War Veterans who made a good showing and the big American flag of this organization, which has become a feature of local parades, was once more in evidence.

World War Veterans

Then came the nucleus of the whole parade and the whole celebration for that matter—the veterans of the world war. All along the line of march they were recipients of applause, cheering and whistles. First were a representation of the wounded veterans riding in a machine. They included George Gray, John O'Keefe, J. Thifault, Cormick A. Kieran, James D. Sunderland and H. Lanester.

The Canadian veterans, some 60 of them, had the next position in line, marching to music furnished by the Highland Dress Association band of Boston, Corp. J. J. Waterhouse commanded. Eighteen British and Canadian units were represented.

The naval veterans in natty uniform got a big hand along the route. There were about 60 in line.

Maj. F. W. Esty commanded the marching veterans of the world war and his adjutant was Lieut. S. R. Waller. The Salvation Army band furnished music. The veterans marched in platoon formation, there being 10 platoons in all. They were commanded by Lieut. Duffy, Lieut. Frank Bachelder, Lieut. R. A. Eastman, Lieut. M. Tully, Lieut. George Enslay, Lieut. Perry G. Thompson, Sergt. T. A. DeMore, Sergt. Wesley Wiggin, Sergt. D. E. Desrosier and Sergt. Eli B. Hart, respectively. Miss Margaret O'Dwyer and Miss Ella Quinn, overseas nurses, were also in line.

The Second Division

Semi-military organizations made up the second division. Capt. Albert Bergeron was marshal. Music was furnished by the Lowell Military Band and the Irish Volunteer Fife and Drum corps.

The Wolfe Tone Guards, Sheridan Guards, Manchester Unity, A. G. Cadets, Garde Sacre Coeur of Notre Dame de Lourdes parish, the Boy Scouts, Polish Falcons and Polish Falcon girls were all included in this division and under command of their officers made an excellent showing.

The Third Division

The third or civic division was commanded by Capt. Walter R. Jeyes and with the assistance of a capable staff his part of the parade was excellent in its appearance. The U. S. Cartridge Co. band was in the lead and the first organization in line was the Eagles with their own band led by James H. Buckley. A service flag of 210 stars and three gold stars evidenced the part the local aerie had done in the war. Conductor James Ward commanded the representation.

Clan Grant with its auxiliary and the Manchester Killie band formed one of the picturesque features of the procession. Swinging along in plaids and jacket the pipers led by Maj. John Pettigrew, furnished a lot of stirring music. John Keid was marshal of the clan, assisted by Andrew Morton and James McCrandles. Mrs. Margaret Reed commanded the auxiliary. A float entitled "Keep the Home Fires Burning" was the work of the auxiliary and made a decided hit.

O. B. Bessner led Highland Veritas lodge of Odd Fellows and the goat mascot of Co. K of the 102d regiment, the property of Edward Simpson, was one of the features of the contingent.

Miss Rose Heath led the war camp community girls and the flags were carried by Miss Nellie Ryan and Miss Sadie Melancon. There were nine companies of them and they presented a natty appearance in white. A float symbolic of the spirit of the organization was a feature. The young woman on the float were Allen Curran, Mary Ryan, Adele Deveau, Jeanette Kennedy, Susan Botti, Lillian Reneau.

The Greek community had one of the largest delegations of the entire parade. Lieut. M. J. Molony led the Greek veterans of the world war and President Christos Zlogos, the Greek consul. The Pan-Hellenic society and the Greek school children made good showings. Several effective floats got a lot of applause. They were representative of Greek historical episodes. The Hellenic Social and Athletic club formed the finale of the contingent.

Capt. Poyagin headed the Armenian community and this also made an excellent showing.

Capt. Grace Sikha commanded Troop 6 of the Girl Scouts and Capt. H. V. Kittredge several lodges of Odd Fellows, including Centerville Canton and Pawtucket.

David Ziskind, mounted, lead the Hebrew community and the Portuguese community was also represented.

Exalted Ruler William H. Mahan led a large delegation of Elks in machines. An excellent float and the lodge's service flag were features. Wives of the members rode in the machines and the decorations were very prettily arranged.

The Lowell Gas Light Co. and the Lowell Bleachery had large representations of employees and the Saco-Lawell Co. had a float welcoming home the boys. The K. of C. and T.M.C.A. also had excellent floats. Osterman & Gilman had a decorated wagon in line and the Ponchartrons lodge had a float of Indians.

The Fourth Division

Clubs of the city formed the fourth

division under command of Marshal Charles W. Slowey. Walter Scannell was chief of staff and there were several aids. There were but a few organizations in line, including the

Crescent Hill Associates, commanded by Joseph Sousa and the Lisbon club with Manuel Machado and Manuel Correia in the lead. Several floats and a decorated automobile featured the latter organization's showing.

Review at City Hall

When the head of the line reached city hall the Lowell Cadet band

swerved into Cardinal O'Connell parkway and played while the parade passed in review before city, state and national officials as well as the chief marshal and his staff. The latter included Capt. W. C. MacBrayne, chief of staff, Congressman John Jacob Rogers, Mayor Perry D. Thompson, Commissioner James E. Donnelly, Commission-

KILLED BY EXPLOSION

One Dead and Four Injured
as Result of Gasoline Explosion in Billerica

The bad but inevitable effects of bringing fire in contact with a tank full of gasoline were again exemplified at Pinehurst park, Billerica, late yesterday afternoon when children playing with fireworks tossed one near enough to a gasoline tank so that an explosion ensued, which cost William F. Murray of Chelmsford his life, and seriously injured three other men.

Murray was 28 years old. In the explosion that followed the tossing of the spitting firecracker at the gasoline tank, his left arm was torn off, his skull was fractured and he had painful and serious burns all over his body. He was hurried to Choate Memorial hospital where he died early today. Two other men being cared for at Choate Memorial hospital are Frank Folger, 19, of 5 Dale park, Billerica, and John Silva, 22, of 3 Belmont street, Woburn. Both have serious but not necessarily fatal burns. Thomas Brady, 23 years old, 9 Pine-dale park, Billerica, was seriously burned about the head, face and arms but his heroism undoubtedly saved a number of little children's lives for he drove them out of the way and into shallow water of Shawsheen river. Folger and Silva who were near the tank when it exploded were thrown 30 feet by the explosion.

RED PILLS

THE BEST FRIEND OF THE WOMAN who Works.

THE woman who is forced to earn her living in the factory, is bound to feel the strain. The long hours on her feet, the monotony of doing the same thing, day in and day out; the weariness of mind and body, will break down the strongest constitution if allowed to go on without help.

MANY a woman, who has started in the factory the very picture of health, has come out a physical wreck. Because she neglects Nature's warnings.

SHE would not heed the signs when she become pale and thin; when headaches began to bother her; when she could not eat and sleep; when she grew nervous; when the ordinary work tired her.

THESE are Nature's danger signals that Anemia is present—that the blood needs more food—that the health will be shattered unless a blood food like RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women is taken. They are the best friend of the woman who works.

RED PILLS conquer Anemia, because they feed the blood. They contain the vital substances needed to purify and enrich the blood—to overcome Anemia—to quiet the nerves, strengthen the muscles, restore the vitality, and really re-build the entire system.

EVERY woman who works needs RED PILLS to keep her in good health; or to restore her to health.

MRS. LEON HUDON, 85 Ford Street, Lowell, Mass., says: "I was forced to work very hard while still young, and when the day of my marriage approached I was in a very precarious state of health, as I was weakened through overwork and was suffering from internal pains which were making life very miserable for me. RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women soon gave me strength, and my pains gradually disappeared, with the result that now I enjoy good health and am no more troubled with the various ailments which used to upset me so."

CAUTION—The formula of RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women was first discovered in Paris, in the year of 1870, by a famous French specialist. They have been used by French women ever since. Insist on the signature of the "CIE. CHIMIQUE FRANCO-AMERICAINE", and a series, number on each box. RED PILLS are never sold in bulk; only in boxes, 50 cents, or 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or sent by mail on receipt of price, by the Franco-American Chemical Company Limited, 212 Milk Street, Boston, Mass. 14.

STREET CAR SERVICE

To say the least, the outlook for the future of the electric railways is not bright. The Bay State, now the Eastern Massachusetts, may be mentioned as an example.

Now the company is under a new organization directed by trustees representing the state in an effort to render service at cost. The time fare is not a fixture. If it appears that the revenues can be increased by a somewhat lower fare, say seven or eight cents, then a change may be made to that figure.

childish and absurd. The United States in entering the League of Nations simply enters into a compact with other nations to preserve international peace.

REPUBLICAN POLITICS

Congress has decided to take a recess after having passed the appropriation bills that were held up by the republican filibuster at the close of the last congress.

Since the opening of the new congress it appears that politics rather than business has absorbed the greater part of the time and attention of the dominant party in both branches.

It was expected that the republicans on assuming control would at once begin to give a demonstration of their alleged business capacity and show how much better they are fitted for conducting the nation's business than is the democratic administration.

To the dismay of the entire country, however, instead of taking up business problems, the republicans inaugurated what may be called "political fishing parties" and a crusade against the League of Nations, the purpose of which is to discredit President Wilson in his efforts not only to reach an honorable peace with Germany but to adopt a plan that would prevent destructive wars hereafter and so far as may be possible, maintain universal peace.

Now the president returns after having accomplished the great work which he set out to do some six months ago. The republicans have undertaken as a party to oppose the covenant of the League of Nations; but in so doing should they persist in their policy, they will hold up the operation of the peace treaty between the United States and Germany. Unless they ratify the treaty as a whole, they will prolong the existence of a state of war between Germany and the United States. The war cannot be regarded as closed until the treaty shall have been ratified by the United States senate.

Some senators such as Borah and Brandegee together with that dyspeptic shouter Sherman from Illinois, are the leading opponents of the League of Nations. Borah and Brandegee threaten to quit the republican party if the covenant be ratified. They claim as does Sherman and a few others that the league would establish a super-government and that in so doing the United States would surrender part of its sovereignty. That claim is war, we understand why the League of Nations is a necessity and why it should be upheld and approved by all classes as the preventive of war and the strongest possible agency for maintaining universal peace.

I saw a testimonial of, I think, a Montreal man about 'Fruit-a-lives' and concluded to make one more trial. By the time the sample box was finished I found quite an improvement, and when I had finished a 50c. box, there was a grand improvement far beyond my expectations.

GUNS DRAWN AT SILVER LAKE

In Exciting Attempt to Drive Bathers From Ice House

Two Bathers Arrested and Taken to Woburn Court

Silver Lake, usually a very cool and quiet resort, had lots of excitement yesterday when a riot was threatened and only the use of revolvers prevented the mobbing of the proprietor of the ice house on the shore of the lake, and a young man supposed to be his son.

For some time past it has been customary for bathers to use the ice house as a convenient place in which to unrobe before entering the water. They had been using the runways and floors of the building so long for this purpose that they did not suppose there was any objection to its use.

Last week, however, notices appeared warning bathers not to trespass on the premises. Following the old custom, however, and rendered in a degree reckless by the great heat, some bathers disregarded the signs and left their clothing in the shelters of the ice house as they went into the water.

MAN ARRESTED BY LOWELL POLICE IS ARRAIGNED IN FEDERAL COURT AT BOSTON

Charged with unlawfully forging material signatures to postal certificates, valued at $553, Thomas Babrowsky, alias Murray of Billerica, was arraigned before the federal authorities in Boston Wednesday. He pleaded not guilty, and in default of bail, which was set at $2000, was committed to the East Cambridge jail. Babrowsky was arraigned in the Lowell police court on a charge of breaking and entering the room of Abdelmal Abdelal on Middlesex street June 22, and stealing postal certificates valued at $1000, cash amount to $115, and some clothing. At the request of the federal officer present at the trial the cases against Babrowsky in the local court were filed and he was surrendered to the federal authorities on a warrant charging forgery.

BOWEL POISON

Thousands of Men and Women Falsely and Don't Know It. HOW TO FIND OUT

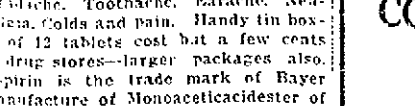

Bowel poison means blood tainted by bowel secretions absorbed from the bowels. Here are the symptoms: If your skin is discolored by eruptions, hives, pimples, blotches, sores or eczema; if you itch and burn and your skin is scaly and rough; if you feel tired and worn out, your nerves weak, constipated, cross and depressed; if your head feels heavy and aching, your eyes blur and specks float across your vision, if you have cold feet, and your hands get sweaty and sticky—if you have these danger signals they point unerringly to bowel poison. Impure blood, and show that your stomach, liver and bowels are not working right.

Dr. Grady's Tablets are what you must have to make your bowels right; they will remove the impurities from your system, the sluggish liver and bowels so that they will perform their functions naturally and regularly. They cleanse and invigorate the blood by stimulating the sluggish liver and purgative action. They are a sure and unerring cure for bowel poison in young or old.

Dr. Grady's Tablets cure constipation, biliousness and headache in one night, in cents, all druggists. Adv.

BOWEL POISON

Thousands of Men and Women Falsely and Don't Know It. HOW TO FIND OUT

Bowel poison means blood tainted by bowel secretions absorbed from the bowels. Here are the symptoms: If your skin is discolored by eruptions, hives, pimples, blotches, sores or eczema; if you itch and burn and your skin is scaly and rough; if you feel tired and worn out, your nerves weak, constipated, cross and depressed; if your head feels heavy and aching, your eyes blur and specks float across your vision, if you have cold feet, and your hands get sweaty and sticky—if you have these danger signals they point unerringly to bowel poison. Impure blood, and show that your stomach, liver and bowels are not working right.

Dr. Grady's Tablets are what you must have to make your bowels right; they will remove the impurities from your system, the sluggish liver and bowels so that they will perform their functions naturally and regularly. They cleanse and invigorate the blood by stimulating the sluggish liver and purgative action. They are a sure and unerring cure for bowel poison in young or old.

PARKER PROPERTY
SOLD AT AUCTION

The properties of Col. Percy Parker, advertised by Auctioneer Walter D. Guyette, were sold at public sale on Wednesday, the 25th of June, and realized satisfactory prices to the owners.

The properties comprised two lots. First lot was situated on a parcel of land containing seven acres located at 430-434-438-442-446-450-454-458 Bridge St. corner of West Fourth Street, and is on a lot of 13.333 square feet with a frontage of 160 feet on Bridge Street. This property was assessed for $15,695, and the final bid was made by Arthur Genest of $18,050, plus two years taxes.

The second lot consisted of the frame dwelling at 15 West Fourth Street. The bidding on this property started at $800 and by concerted efforts of the auctioneer the property was finally struck off for the sum of $3050, plus two years' taxes to Robert G. Bartlett. The total sale for the day amounted to $21,100, plus two years' taxes, and was considered entirely satisfactory by all parties concerned.

On Friday the 27th Mr. Guyette sold at public auction the two and a half two-tenement house at the corner of Parker and Pine Street, being numbered 314-316 Pine Street. This property was assessed for $350 and comprised a thoroughly modern two-tenement dwelling. The bidding on this property was started at $2500 and the final offer at which the property was sold of $4950, plus two years' taxes, was made by John H. Douglass. Following immediately after the sale of the above described, the auctioneer offered and sold, the two dwelling houses, comprising a two and a half story, ten-room property, and a six-room dwelling of the cottage type at 65-67 Dover St.

This property was assessed in its entirety for the sum of $5450 and was finally struck off to E. Hutchinson for $5450. An eleven acre woodlot situated in Weymouth, Mass., was next sold on the Dover Street premises to B. Farley for the sum of $210.

The three parcels above mentioned carried a total assessment of $5300 and the price realized at the auction totaled the sum of $13,155 plus two years' taxes, or about $1000 in excess of its assessed value. The sales were made by order of James J. Kerwin.

"Most Tremendous Fourth of July Ever Imagined,"—Wilson

ON BOARD THE U. S. S. GEORGE WASHINGTON, Friday, July 4.—(By wireless to the Associated Press).—"This is the most tremendous Fourth of July ever imagined, for we have opened its franchise to the whole world," said President Wilson in a stirring speech to soldiers and sailors massed on the deck of the presidential steamer this afternoon. The men gave him three cheers as he appeared among them and began his address by greeting them as "my fellow citizens." It was a striking picture, with several thousand khaki-clad doughboys and blue-jacketed sailors crowding the decks, life boats and riggings and with the president, bare headed and earnest, in their midst. His theme was "The new and enlarged meaning of the Fourth of July" as the war has borne America's message of liberty and independence to the remotest corners of the earth. He spoke of the future to America, and said: "You cannot earn a reputation like that and not live up to it."

Plans to Greet Pres. Wilson

ON BOARD THE U. S. S. GEORGE WASHINGTON, Friday, July 4.—(By wireless to the Associated Press).—Final plans have been arranged for the arrival of the presidential fleet. The George Washington will dock at Hoboken at 2.45 o'clock Tuesday, and the presidential party will board automobiles and cross the 23rd street ferry. Thence they will proceed to Carnegie Hall, where Gov. Smith and the reception committee will extend a welcome to which President Wilson will make a brief response. The party will proceed to the Pennsylvania station which they will leave at 5 p. m. for Washington, arriving at the capital at about 10 o'clock.

Switzerland Bars Wife of Bela Kun

GENEVA, Friday, July 4.—Madame Bela Kun, wife of the foreign minister of the Hungarian soviet government, arrived at the Swiss frontier yesterday, but was not allowed to cross by the authorities, who applied the new law controlling the entry of aliens.

She had a large sum of money with which it is supposed that she intended to engage in Bolshevik propaganda. She also had several large trunks and many servants. After the refusal of the authorities to permit her to enter Switzerland she went to Innsbruck.

THIS IS PLenty HOT ENOUGH, THANK YOU

Today is claimed to be the hottest day of 1919 so far, by some, while others make you more tired and hot than what you already are by reciting some personal experience to show that yesterday was hotter.

At any rate thousands of Lowell mill operatives as well as other workers in different industries have good cause to be thankful the mill owners declared a week-end holiday and the looms are idle today.

If the store of J. B. V. Cohorn, 11 Mammoth road, is not the city's hottest emporium it must be next to it for today a lady over there with a cool sounding voice said that while the temperature was 102 at 2 p. m. today, yesterday the merry old thermometer jizzed up to register 110 degrees of heat.

Down at the drug store of Charles L. Cordeau, Aiken street and Lakeview avenue, the report was of a nature for anyone hearing it to congratulate Cordeau and all in his company for his scale registered heat of only 99 degrees in the shade.

We missed the courteous folk at the Locks and Canals office today when they failed to answer the telephone because it is headquarters for cold, heat, rainfall and storm dope, but with the mills closed down, mercifully enough Engineer Arthur Stafford and his co-workers apparently were enjoying a brief holiday.

At the gatehouse of the Locks and Canals corporation in Fairmont street the report was that the thermometer registered 107 in the shade. The outside temperature of city hall was reported to be 109. Down at Edison company the temperature was reported to be 102 in the shade.

Giant Biplane Forced to Land

HALIFAX, N. S., July 5.—The giant Handley-Page biplane Atlantic, under the command of Vice Admiral Kerr, which left Harbor Grace, N. F., yesterday, en route to New York and Atlantic City, landed in the streets of Parrsboro at 5.30 o'clock this morning.

Parrsboro is a town about 35 miles west of here. The airplane left Harbor Grace at 4.15 p. m. yesterday, on its 1200 mile trip. It is presumed that the big biplane was diverted from its intended course across the Bay of Fundy as a result of fog. Her schedule called for passing over Halifax at midnight last night. The airplane was forced to descend owing to engine trouble and was damaged beyond immediate repair. No member of the crew was injured.

One Thing More

Most car owners know that this is the place to have their batteries tested with a hydrometer.

—That it is the place to buy a Bone Dry Battery with Willard Threaded Rubber Insulation—which carries with it the evidence of battery weakness.

—That it is the place to come for battery charging, repair, and a replacement battery.

But one thing more—it is the place to come, just as soon as you buy your new car, to have your battery registered and get the benefit of Willard 90-day battery insurance.

Drive in, whether you have bought a new car or not. Perhaps we can give you some battery information that will save you the cost of your battery and save you of your car.

How to Save Your Hair From Falling Out

Scales and dandruff cause the hair to sicken, die and eventually fall out. To get rid of dandruff you have got to keep the scalp clean and the pores open. Everybody's head ought to be washed at least once a week, but don't make the mistake of using common soaps. They contain too much alkali, which leaves the hair dry and harsh. Birt's Head Wash removes dirt, dandruff, germs and microbes. It leaves the scalp soft and moist and the hair fine and glossy. Its regular use will help to completely overcome dandruff and itching scalp. It stops hair from falling out.

HAD TO SIT STILL ALL DAY—COULDN'T GET UP OFF CHAIR

Mrs. Bert Frary of 25 Middle St., Leominster, Mass., says: "I suffered terribly for three years when I was troubled by change of life and it left me in pretty bad shape. When I laid down at night I would have to get right up, I had terrible coughing spells and I had a great deal. I had rheumatism in my knees, which was in the joints and muscles. I got so bad I couldn't get up off a chair and every time I tried to I would fall on the floor. My kidneys bothered me a good deal and I felt just miserable all the time. After a time a friend advised me to take Goldine and I did."

If you are wondering what Goldine will do for you, just ask Mrs. Frary about it and what it has done for her.

Remember, GOLDINE is sold in Lowell by Carter & Shorborne, F. H. Butler & Co., W. P. Calse, Jr., Fred Howard, Wm. R. Kiernan, Frank E. McNabb, Wm. H. Noonan, R. F. Webb, sold by Roland G. ## WAR ON GERMAN GOVERNMENT

Conservative Party Issues
Proclamation Signed by Heydebrand

Intends to Use Whole Strength to Re-establish the Monarchy

LONDON, July 5.—The German conservative party has issued a proclamation, signed by Ernst von Heydebrand, the party's leader in the Reichstag, stating that the party "declares war on the government and intends to use its whole strength to re-establish the monarchy," according to a Copenhagen despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Co.

LOCAL LIQUOR DEALERS ASK INFORMATION

In an effort to determine what the attitude of local authorities is in the matter of the continuation of the sale of beer of not more than 2.75 per cent. alcohol and what arrangements should be made about obtaining licenses for the purpose, representatives of the Lowell Liquor Dealers' association held an informal conference with City Solicitor William D. Regan in the mayor's reception room at city hall this morning and after discussing the matter at length it was decided that the local license commission, on request of the association, should submit a query to the city solicitor asking for a formal opinion as to whether local liquor dealers may surrender one class of license and later take out another in the interim between now and Jan. 18, 1920.

The uncertainty of the situation caused by the failure of the supreme court to decide whether 2.75 per cent. alcoholic beer is intoxicating and also the possibility of the entire prohibition ban being lifted by the president declaring that the troops are demobilized was the reason for the liquor dealers wish to get a clear idea of what procedure to take locally.

Present at the conference were City Solicitor Regan, Mayor Perry D. Thompson, Supt. Redmond Welch of the police department, Commissioner George E. McFarland, Charles H. Hanson, chairman, and Joseph H. McGrath and Geo. E. Putnam of the license commission, Anthony A. Conway, John H. Cull, Chas. I. Marren, Hosiandis Gervais and John J. Gallagher of the Lowell Liquor Dealers' association.

Mr. Regan said that the burden of interpreting the federal law is on the local license commission. He pointed out that the present prohibition law is a war measure and that when the treaty of peace is ratified the war powers of congress are at an end. He said that ordinarily congressional laws are enforced by federal authority, i. e., the collection of internal revenue taxes, enforcement of postal regulations, etc. The local police department does not take the initiative in such matters although it may make arrests if requested by the federal authorities.

Mr. Marren said that the liquor dealers merely wanted to know what to tell their employees. Most of them are continuing their bartenders on their payroll and they would like to know whether to continue to do so.

Mr. McGrath said that the commission had issued a brewer's license to the Harvard Co. and that across the face of it was written "Subject to federal regulations." That is the attitude of the commission at the present time, he said.

Mr. Regan said that if the dealers should wait until the ban were lifted it would be his informal opinion that they should apply for an extension of the licenses granted them in April of this year, not a new license.

Mr. Conway said that the association felt that the local authorities should assume the same attitude as the authorities of Atlantic City and leave the burden of enforcement up to the federal authorities unless there comes a request for action by the department of justice.

Mr. Marren asked Mayor Thompson if the license commission should grant a local dealer a new license whether there should be any interference on the part of the local police department. The mayor said that he would answer the question at a later date.

It was finally decided to ask the solicitor for an opinion on the matter, the request to be made in writing by the license commission. This was done this afternoon and the city solicitor may have his opinion ready before the first of the week.

HINDENBURG NOW ASSUMES BLAME

Says He's Responsible for Acts of German Main
Headquarters Since 1916

Also Proclamations Issued by Kaiser Concerning the Waging of Warfare

LONDON, July 5.—Field Marshal von Hindenburg, former chief of the German staff, declares that he is responsible for acts of German main headquarters since August, 1916, and also the proclamations of German Emperor William concerning the waging of warfare. He asks President Ebert of Germany to inform the allies to this effect, according to a Copenhagen despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Co. The field marshal arrived in Hanover yesterday and telegraphed the following message to President Ebert:

"The signing of the peace treaty gives me occasion for declaring that I was responsible for the decisions and acts of main headquarters since Aug. 29, 1916, and also that all proclamations and orders of His Majesty the Emperor and King, concerning the waging of warfare were issued upon my advice and upon my responsibility. I beg you, therefore, to inform the German people and the allied governments of this declaration."

This is the second assumption of responsibility since it was officially announced that the allies purposed to place on trial political and military leaders of Germany for causing the war and for violations of the warfare. Dr. Theobald von Bethmann-Hollweg, former German chancellor, who held office at the beginning of the war, had previously announced he was responsible for the official acts of the emperor.

HER SLEEVE CAUGHT FIRE

Little Girl Would Have Been Badly Burned But for Marden's Prompt Action

The life of a little 5-year-old girl named Mabel Sullivan, living in School street, was undoubtedly saved last night by Harry Marden, living in the same neighborhood.

The little girl came over in the evening to play with the children of Daniel E. Berry at 19 Marsh street, bringing with her some of the fireworks for children called "sparklers." It was at about 9:30 p. m. that playing with her sparklers the little girl's right sleeve caught fire and blazed up. She was panic stricken and ran out the yard and by Marden, who was standing on the sidewalk. Marden reached out and grabbed hold of the little one and realizing that her running would increase the flames, promptly put out the blazing sleeve with his bare hands. In spite of this he was not able to do it before the little girl had experienced painful burns to her arm. Marden and Berry carried her to the drug store of William H. Kiernan at 617 Broadway where Druggist Kiernan gave the burns first aid, applied ointment and bandaged up the little arm. The child today is reported to be getting along nicely.

Morning Parade Big Feature of Fourth of July Observance—4000 Marchers Applauded by Large Crowd of Spectators—Cabaret at Armory and Fireworks in the Evening

Lowell got up early yesterday morning, drew a perspiring hand over her damp brow and set to work to do something for the gallant Yanks and doughboys and gobs and nurses and Sailies and all the others who aided her and the nation in the world war. Rarely has appreciation been so splendidly, brilliantly and successfully extended.

The city put on gala Fourth of July attire that formed an avenue of color and patriotism for some 4000 marchers in the morning parade, the day's high light.

It was one of the hottest Fourth of Julys on record locally and recalled a park and to wind up the celebration a bang-up exhibition of fireworks on the South common in the evening with a band concert thrown in as an extra treat. Anybody who lived up to this schedule in yesterday's heat was due for a congressional medal and noteworthy citation.

Entertainment at Armory
A pleasant "smoker" and entertainment was held at the State armory yesterday morning for the service men just prior to the start of the parade. The musical program was in charge of Miss Nellie Blaisdell, under the auspices of the Community Service club and it embraced songs by James E. Continued to Page Two, First Section

The day was a long one for the honored guests of the city—the men in uniform. There was a smoker and entertainment at the State armory first, then came the parade at 2 o'clock, the South common midway all day long, a good ball game in the afternoon at Spaulding park and to wind up the celebration

Mobs Sack Shops in Florence —Streets Flooded With Oil, Beer and Wine

Thousands of Boxes of Matches Distributed Free
to Crowds

FLORENCE, Friday, July 4.—(By the Associated Press).—Carabineers fired upon crowds here today. Mobs sacked all shops without distinction, destroying what they were unable to carry away. One street was flooded with petroleum, gasoline, wine, beer and olive oil.

Wherever the chamber of labor was able to exercise authority, goods were transported to special warehouses under the red flag, even tram cars being pressed into this service. Large "years supplies" were turned over to the municipality in the Piazza Signoria, the chief square of the city. Money taken from shops was placed in the care of the municipality or the chamber of labor. Thousands of boxes of matches were distributed free to the crowds.

SHOTGUNS HALT AUTO THIEF

Man Speeded Over 60 Miles of Cape Cod Roads Defying Sheriffs

Finally Caught at Sandwich
When Officers Punctured
Tires With Shotguns

SANDWICH, Mass., July 5.—After speeding 60 miles over Cape Cod roads from Provincetown in a stolen automobile truck, defying sheriffs who fired four shots at him at Barnstable, a man named Elwell was stopped here today when officers punctured the rear tires of the truck with shotguns. The man was wounded by the shot which struck him in the left arm and was taken to St. Luke's hospital at New Bedford. His wounds were not serious.

The truck was taken from a fish freezing plant at Provincetown early this morning. Word of the theft was sent along the cape by telephone, and sheriffs stood guard at the crossroads in an effort to arrest the driver. He refused to obey commands to stop. At Barnstable, on orders from High Sheriff Henry E. M. Percival deputies fired four shots but the fugitive continued his flight.

When Officer M. J. Murphy of Sandwich was notified of the truck's approach, he sent his son, Joseph, a returned soldier, and W. A. Windsor, another deputy, down the road with shotguns, and took station himself, also armed, a hundred yards nearer the course of the machine. His order to stop being disregarded by the fugitive, Officer Murphy ordered the men to fire at the rear wheels. Each found his mark, and some of the scattering shot struck the driver, with the result that the truck ran into a park out of control, and the man was captured.

BIG DIRIGIBLE IN DISTRESS

Fighting High Wind Over
Nova Scotia With Her Fuel Supply Getting Low

Two U. S. Destroyers Ordered to Proceed to Bay of Fundy to Help Blimp

WASHINGTON, July 5.—Two American destroyers were ordered today to proceed toward the Bay of Fundy to lend any required assistance to the British dirigible R-34, which reported that she was fighting a head wind over Nova Scotia with her fuel supply getting low.

The destroyers will put out from Boston with orders to establish radio communication with the dirigible as quickly as possible and also to keep in touch with the Otter Cliff, Maine, wireless station.

Admiral William S. Benson, chief of naval operations and acting secretary, sent orders to the commandant of the first naval district at Boston, after receipt of a message from Commander Zachary Lansdowne, U.S.N., who is on the R-34, asking if destroyers could tow the dirigible to port if necessary.

Commander Lansdowne's message as well as a previous one from the airship reporting that she was over Nova Scotia was flashed from Washington to the air ministry at London with assurance that the American navy would render all possible assistance should any be required.

Still in Air

HALIFAX, N. S., July 5.—The R-34 was still proceeding under her own power at 2:15 p. m., according to a wireless message received here. She passed over Maitland, Hants county, at 2:20 o'clock, headed for the Basin of Minas, according to telephone advice. Maitland is 52 miles northwest of Halifax at the head of the Basin of Minas which is a tributary to the Bay of Fundy.

Calls for Help

BOSTON, July 5.—The R-34 is in distress and has asked for an American destroyer to take her in tow.

The Boston navy yard announced receipt today of the following message from the British dirigible addressed to the navy department, Washington: "Could destroyer proceed to south end Bay of Fundy and take H. M. airship R-34 in tow?"

The message was received at 11:25 eastern time. It was signed by Lieut. Commander Lansdowne, the United States navy's representative aboard.

The latest previous report from the R-34 this morning placed her in a fog over Nova Scotia, between Halifax and Canso.

Lowell Pays Tribute

Donnelly, George Merritt and Mrs. Mary Dillon Doherty. Thomas Kehoe was the accompanist. There also was solo dancing by the Dewire sisters, who have been favorites with the soldiers at Camp Devens during the past months, at all the entertainments given there.

The Big Parade

The big morning parade was not the longest ever seen in Lowell by any means, but its intrinsic significance as a welcome home to the city's heroes made its quality such to counteract any quantitative defects. Even at that, there were some 4000 in line and few broke ranks until the end of the route had been reached, a most commendable record in view of the day's heat. The world war veterans didn't come out full strength by any means but there was a genuinely representative delegation present with overseas men in the majority.

Exactly at 9 o'clock Chief Marshal Gardner W. Pearson gave the command that started things up at Westford and Chelmsford streets. The various units had been forming and reforming on the neighboring streets for an hour or so and when the appointed hour came there was no delay. From Westford and Chelmsford streets the marchers made their way to Thorndike, Highland, Locke, Gorham, Central and Merrimack streets. It was reviewed at city hall by municipal and other officials and again at Cabot street by the world war veterans themselves. Just about three quarters of an hour it took for the entire spectacle to pass a given point.

The Motorcycle Division

One of the features of the parade was the motorcycle division, which acted as an advance guard to the several thousand marchers, closely followed by a group of bicyclists. There were over 50 machines in line and they presented a very fine appearance, for most of them were handsomely decorated, while several had been converted into veritable floats. The motor assembly on the boulevard at 7:30 o'clock in the morning and after being given their places in line by the chief marshal, Lieut. Harold Dyer and the chief of staff, Sam Parent, the machines were lined up and photographed. The start for the armory was made at 8:50 o'clock and the men arrived in time to take their places in the front of the parade.

Lieut. Dyer attired in his military uniform and wearing the Sam Brown belt, headed the line and was closely followed by his chief of staff, Sam S. Parent, who represented Uncle Sam and operated his own car. Seated in his sidecar was Mrs. Parent representing Miss Columbia. One of the prettiest floats of this division was the machine operated by George H. Marcotte, which had been given an airplane effect of many colors. Occupying the sidecar of this machine was Joseph Masse and both were attired in military uniform.

Daniel Aguilar and Miss Blanche Mortimer, both attired as Indians, occupied a handsome Indian motorcycle. Mr. and Mrs. Armand Bordeaux rode in a car handsomely decorated with Japanese colors.

During the entire course of the parade the motorcycles were operated with the mufflers open and the racket caused by the gasoline explosions in the various engines could be heard a great distance and served as a signal to the many spectators that the parade was approaching.

The aides in the motorcycle division were Thomas Jones, Melvin Master, Richard Phillips and Albert Lundgren. Directly behind the motorcycleists came Sergt. Louis Buschbaum, commander of the mounted scouts, and he was followed by Lieut. Martin Connors, commanding a platoon of police. The Lowell Cadet band furnished the first music of the morning and in the preliminary division was an automobile containing Frank W. Stearns, of Boston, a close personal friend of Governor Coolidge, who came in the latter's absence. The Dewire sisters, representing Uncle Sam and Columbia, were in his machine.

The bicycle division was headed by Chief Marshal Alexandre Perreault, while the chief of staff was William R. Laporte. The aides were Ralph Jacques and Alfred Laporte. There were about 50 bicycles in line and with their decorations of red, white and blue, made a very fine showing. There were numerous prizes offered for the best decorated machines and bicycles and the winners will be announced in the early part of next week.

The First Division

Col. Charles A. Stevens commanded the first division made up of veterans of the Civil, Spanish and world wars. His staff was made up of representatives of the three organizations including all the medical men of the world war who turned out for the parade.

Lieut. Horace Deslets, acting major of the local state guard battalion, commanded two companies of the 11th regiment, B. and G. Lieut. Valterand led Co. B and Lieut. Edward Daly Co. C.

The Civil war veterans turned out six members who rode in a machine near the head of the division. Commander William Prescott led the Spanish War Veterans who made a good showing and the big American flag of this organization, which has become a feature of local parades, was once more in evidence.

World War Veterans

Then came the nucleus of the whole parade and the whole celebration for that matter—the veterans of the world war. All along the line of march they were recipients of applause, cheering and whistles. First were a representation of the wounded veterans riding in a machine. They included George Gray, John O'Keefe, J. Thiffault, Cornick A. Kiernan, James D. Sunderland and H. Lancaster.

The Canadian veterans, some 60 of them, had the next position in line, marching to music furnished by the Highland Dress Association band of Boston. Corp. J. J. Waterhouse commanded. Eighteen British and Canadian units were represented.

The naval veterans in natty uniform got a big hand along the route. There were about 60 in line.

Maj. F. W. Esty commanded the marching veterans of the world war and his adjutant was Lieut. S. R. Walter. The Salvation Army band furnished music. The veterans marched in platoon formation, there being 10 platoons in all. They were commanded by Lieut. Duffy, Lieut. Frank Rachel, Lieut. R. A. Eastman, Lieut. T. M. Tully, Lieut. George Emsley, Lieut. Perry C. Thompson, Sergt. T. A. Delmore, Sergt. Wesley Wiggin, Sergt. D. E. Desrosier and Sergt. Ell B. Hart, respectively. Miss Margaret O'Dwyer and Miss Ella Quinn, overseas nurses, were also in line.

The Second Division

Semi-military organizations made up the second division. Capt. Albert Bergeron was marshal. Music was furnished by the Lowell Military band and the Irish Volunteer Fife and Drum corps.

The Wolfe Tone Guards, Sheridan Guards, Manchester Unity, A. G. Cadets, Garde Sacre Coeur of Notre Dame de Lourdes parish, the Boy Scouts, Polish Falcons and Polish Falcon girls were all included in this division and under command of their officers made an excellent showing.

The Third Division

The third or civic division was commanded by Capt. Walter R. Jones and with the assistance of a capable staff his part of the parade was excellent in its appearance. The U. S. Cartridge Co. band was in the lead and the first organization in line was the Eagles with their own band led by James H. Buckley. A service flag of 210 stars and three gold stars evidenced the part the local aeris had done in the war. Conductor James Ward commanded the representation.

Clan Grant with its auxiliary and the Manchester Killie band formed one of the picturesque features of the procession. Swinging along in plaids and jacket the pipers led by Maj. John Pettigrew, furnished a lot of stirring music. John Kedd was marshal of the clan, assisted by Andrew Morton and James McCrandles. Mrs. Margaret Reed commanded the auxiliary. A float entitled "Keep the Home Fires Burning" was the work of the auxiliary and made a decided hit.

O. B. Bessner led Highland Veritas lodge of Odd Fellows and the goat mascot of Co. K of the 102d regiment, the property of Edward Simpson, was one of the features of the contingent.

Miss Rose Heath led the war camp community girls and the flags were carried by Miss Nellie Ryan and Miss Sadie Melancon. There were nine companies of them and they presented a natty appearance in white. A float symbolic of the spirit of the organization was a feature. The young woman on the float were Alice Curran, Mary Ryan, Adele Devran, Jeanette Kennedy, Susan Betti, Lillian Reneau.

The Greek community had one of the largest delegations of the entire parade. Lieut. M. J. Molony led the Greek veterans of the world war and President Christos Zlogos, the Greek consul. The Pan-Hellenic society and the Greek school children made good showings. Several effective floats got a lot of applause. They were representative of Greek historical episodes. The Hellenic Social and Athletic club formed the finale of the contingent.

Capt. Poyagin headed the Armenian community and this also made an excellent showing.

Capt. Grace Stokha commanded Troop 6 of the Girl Scouts and Capt. H. V. Kittredge several lodges of Odd Fellows including Centralville Canton and Pawtucket.

David Ziskind, mounted, led the Hebrew community and the Portuguese community was also represented.

Exalted Ruler William H. Mahan led a large delegation of Elks in machines. An excellent float and the lodge's service flag were features. Wives of the members rode in the machines and the decorations were very pretty arranged.

The Lowell Gas Light Co. and the Lowell Bleachery had large representations of employees and the Saco-Lowell Co. had a float welcoming home the boys. The K. of C. and T.M.C.A. also had excellent floats. Osterman & Gilman had a decorated wagon in line and the Pocahontas lodge had a float of Indians.

The Fourth Division

Clubs of the city formed the fourth

division under command of Marshal Charles W. Slowey. Walter Scannell was chief of staff and there were several aids. There were but a few organizations in line, including the

Crescent Hill associates, commanded by Joseph Sousa and the Lisbon club with Manuel Machado and Manuel Correla in the lead. Several floats and a decorated automobile featured the latter organization's showing.

Review at City Hall

When the head of the line reached city hall the Lowell Cadet band

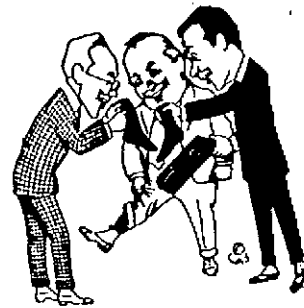

swerved into Cardinal O'Connell parkway and played while the parade passed in review before city, state and national officials as well as the chief marshal and his staff. The latter included Capt. W. C. MacBrayne, chief of staff; Congressman John Jacob Rogers, Mayor Perry D. Thompson, Commissioner James E. Donnelly, Commission-

WHAT'S THE ANSWER?

Mr. Merchant, do you believe that your store and the goods you sell can have publicity in any way half so efficient as advertising?

If your store is inviting and your clerks courteous and obliging, is there any way it can be made known better than to advertise it?

If you give a dollar's worth of merchandise for every dollar spent in your store—and sometimes do a little better than that—is there any better way of the public's knowing it than for you to advertise?

The buying public has got to know about your store first, before it can have the confidence you want it to have. Can you get public confidence in any better way than advertising?

The word "advertising" seems to be the answer to all these vital merchandising questions. Now what kind of advertising functions 100 per cent. efficient? The answer is newspaper advertising, and if you want to know the medium that gets you 150 per cent. efficiency, get better acquainted with

To say the least, the outlook for the future of the electric railways is not bright. The Bay State, now the Eastern Massachusetts, may be mentioned as an example. President Sullivan, one of the most experienced street railway men in the country did his utmost to put the road on a paying basis but failed. He showed that the road could not get along with the revenues resulting from business done on the nickel fare system. He advocated an increase but never a dime fare. In spite of his efforts, however, the road went into the hands of a receiver. Mr. Dunham in that capacity tried hard to restore the road to solvency but with little success.

Now the company is under a new organization directed by trustees representing the state in an effort to render service at cost. The dime fare is not a fixture. If it appears that the revenues can be increased by a somewhat lower fare, say seven or even eight cents, then a change may be made to that figure. If, however, the business of the company cannot be made pay, either at a higher or a lower fare, then the motor bus will enter in and the electric car service may be curtailed to a minimum that will allow a fair margin of profit. Pending the experiment of running the service at cost the public will have to be as patient as possible.

REPUBLICAN POLITICS

Congress has decided to take a recess after having passed the appropriation bills that were held up by the republican filibuster at the close of the last congress.

Since the opening of the new congress it appears that politics rather than business has absorbed the greater part of the time and attention of the dominant party in both branches.

It was expected that the republicans on assuming control would at once begin to give a demonstration of their alleged business capacity and show how much better they are fitted for conducting the nation's business than is the democratic administration.

To the dismay of the entire country, however, instead of taking up business problems, the republicans inaugurated what may be called "political fishing parties" and a crusade against the League of Nations, the purpose of which is to discredit President Wilson in his efforts not only to reach an honorable peace with Germany but to adopt a plan that would prevent destructive wars hereafter and so far as may be possible, maintain universal peace.

Now the president returns after having accomplished the great work which he set out to do some six months ago. The republicans have undertaken as a party to oppose the covenant of the League of Nations; but in so doing should they persist in their policy, they will hold up the operation of the peace treaty between the United States and Germany. Unless they ratify the treaty as a whole, they will prolong the existence of a state of war between Germany and the United States. The war cannot be regarded as closed until the treaty shall have been ratified by the United States senate.

Some senators such as Borah and Brandegee together with that dyspeptic shouter Sherman from Illinois, are the leading opponents of the League of Nations. Borah and Brandegee threaten to quit the republican party if the covenant be ratified. They claim as does Sherman and a few others that the league would establish a super-government and that in so doing the United States would surrender part of its sovereignty. That claim is childish and absurd. The United States in entering the League of Nations simply enters into a compact with other nations to preserve international peace. In doing so the government does not surrender any part of its sovereignty any more than it does in the formation of any other treaty. According to Borah and Brandegee our freedom is lost if we bind ourselves to any fixed policy in common with other nations. It would be well for congress and doubtless well also for the republican party, if such ranters as Borah, Brandegee and Sherman got back to their native hills there to remain in silence that would be highly beneficial to their country.

The republican party instead of playing politics should have taken up the work of reconstruction in settling the railroad problems, the question of getting our merchant marine to work and restoring normal conditions to the industries throughout the country. Had they done this, they would stand better in the estimation of the people and their political fortunes in the future, with which they are mainly concerned, would undoubtedly be more promising.

FIRE FIGHTING AND WAR

Originally we depended upon volunteer service to fight fires just as the people still do in some small towns which have engines that would require to be notified in advance to get to the scene of a fire in time to be of any use. The reason is they have no regular firemen. Each householder was supposed to have a fire bucket handy and to help in drawing water from the nearest well in case of fire.

That plan sometimes proved effective in stamping out an incipient blaze but beyond this it was utterly useless.

Suppose that Lowell, as a city was surrounded by primitive communities, villages or hamlets, if you will, and that such bitter feuds existed among them that some would unite to burn up the others even at the risk of a conflagration that might send all up in smoke.

If Lowell as a city were closely circled with such warring communities what should be done to prevent the spread of the fires that they might start through pure cussedness?

Would it not be necessary to maintain a central fire station with expert firefighters and all the latest style of motor trucks and motorized engines ready to respond at a moment's notice, whenever an alarm of fire came from any of the suburbs that had been thus trying to exterminate one another? Not only this but it would also be necessary to get an agreement among those suburban communities to stop starting fires or suffer severe penalties.

It is thus we prevent conflagrations. But war is a conflagration of the worst kind and it cannot be stopped by the methods of the old fire companies or the bucket brigades. When the great European conflagration occurred in 1914, the nations depended upon voluntary methods; but in spite of all efforts the conflagration spread so as to sweep one-half the world.

Under the pressure of stern necessity we have now provided a central fire station known as the League of Nations to deal with such conflagrations in the future.

The analogy between this and our system of fire-fighting is complete and the result will also be similar. Thus alone can the peace of the world be maintained. It is easy to quell an incipient blaze if taken in time, but impossible if it is allowed to pass beyond control. Applying the same reasoning to war, we understand why the League of Nations is a necessity and why it should be upheld and approved by all classes as the preventive of war and the strongest possible agency for maintaining universal peace.

MORE SOLID HOMES

There appears to be a divine compensation in the way things dovetail together.

About the time the fire hazard becomes the national menace, we discover that our timber resources are getting exhausted, and that there will be no more cheap lumber for a nation's homes.

While Europe was building for 500 years, America built for five, or for 50 at most.

Lumber was cheap, labor was expensive, cement was not utilized as it is today, and so the shack was the rule rather than the exception.

And though we gilded the shack, and dressed it up, and put modern plumbing inside and fancy porches without, and hung gables and porticos and all manner of expensive frippery about it, still it remained, fundamentally, a shack that would wear out in a generation, if it did not burn down sooner.

So we had the most efficient fire department on earth, and the greatest fire loss on earth, and the biggest insurance business, and some of the most clever arsonists out of prison.

And that was an unusual day that did not report at least one family burnt to a crisp while it slept.

But now we are discovering that it pays to build fireproof homes as well as factories, and that the brick wall, the concrete wall, the metal lath, the slate roof and the stucco finish make for homes that are warm when they should be cool, and cool when they should be warm, and the precise reverse of the shack system, that baked you in the summer, and put you into cold storage in winter.

We will pay less for protection and more for masonry; less for pneumonia and more for concrete basements; less for shingles and more for fireproof roofing, and the average American home will endure long enough to have a few memories and traditions; to become a home.

And maybe, when we have real homes that do not require a corps of carpenters to prop up, we will quit moving every May day and stick in one neighborhood long enough to plant a rose and pick its bloom.

In the Russia of Lenin and Trotsky, freedom of the press means freedom to praise the Bolshevik leaders but no freedom to denounce their crimes. Furthermore, periodicals which accept the Soviet platform may publish provided they say nothing derogatory to the Bolsheviks who are plundering the country in the name of liberty.

Henry A. Wisewood, testifying at the Ford libel suit designates Henry Ford as a "rotten American." Wisewood if judged by the propagandist work in which he has recently been engaged cannot qualify as an authority on what constitutes true Americanism.

At this rate we shall soon be keeping our cash in the kitchen safe and our cats in the office safe.

But think of the front elevations that will be developed trying to get a kick out of one-half of one per cent.

The peoples who were once held subject by Prussia and Austria can now thank God that they were not held by more civilized nations, else they would be no nearer freedom than they were in 1914.

The hot weather is a bad time to get pondering over this year's tax rate.

Bowel Poison

Thousands of Men and Women Poisoned and Don't Know It.
HOW TO FIND OUT

Bowel poison means blood tainted by foul secretions absorbed from the bowels. Here are the symptoms: If your skin is discolored by eruptions, tumors, pimples, blotches, sores or eczema; if you itch and burn and your skin is scaly and rough; if you feel tired and worn out, your nerves weak, constipated, cross and depressed; if your head feels heavy and achy, your eyes blur and specks float across your vision, if you have cold feet, and your hands get sweaty and sticky—if you have these danger signals they point unerringly to bowel poison, impure blood, and show that your stomach, liver and bowels are not working right.

Dr. Grady's Tablets are what you must have to make your bowels right; they will remove the impurities from your system, stimulate the sluggish liver and bowels so that they will perform their functions naturally and regularly. They cleanse and invigorate the blood by stimulating the sluggish liver and regulating the bowels by their gentle laxative action. They are a sure and reliable cure for bowel poison in young or old.

Dr. Grady's Tablets cure constipation, biliousness and headache in one week, 10 cents, all druggists.—Adv.

The local evening newspaper is the paper that reaches the home when the labor family is there to read it. The Sun fits this bill in Lowell.

BILLERICA HAS BIGGEST DAY IN HISTORY

Because of the success attending the long made plans for Billerica's official welcome to her soldiers and sailors, which took place yesterday, the day was pronounced by oldest citizens to have been the greatest and most wonderful day in the town's history.

The civic and patriotic parade was supposed to form at North Billerica at 12.30, but the parade took so much time to form and was so late in starting, coupled with the long, hard march from North Billerica to the Centre, that it was about 2.15 before the hundreds of patient waiters on the common heard the strains of Lowell Military band and knew the parade would soon be seen.

The order of parade was as follows:

Patron of Police
Chief Marshal Laurence J. Greenwood
Chief of Staff Maj. Charles A. Ranlett
Aides: Neville A. Ritchie, John W. Bostwick, Edward Barton and John Pratt
Autos with Selectmen Sheridan and Clark, Civil War Veterans and Invited Guests

Government Inspector in Rochester Praises "FRUIT-A-LIVES"

MR. R. B. O'FLYNN
89 North Union St., Rochester, N.Y.

"For five long years, I was afflicted with Stomach, Liver and Kidney Trouble, which developed into serious Bladder Trouble. During that time, I am safe in saying I tried over 60 different remedies without relief. I saw a testimonial of, I think, a Montreal man about 'Fruit-a-lives' and concluded to make one more trial. By the time the sample box was finished I found quite an improvement; and when I had finished a 50c. box, there was a grand improvement far beyond my expectations. To make a long story short, I believe 'Fruit-a-lives' or Fruit-Liver Tablets the best Stomach, Liver and Bladder Medicine the world has ever produced."

R. B. O'FLYNN,
Government Concrete Inspector.
50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c.
At Dealers or from FRUIT-A-LIVES
Factory, OGDENSBURG, N. Y.

Among the floats were: Billerica Grange float, drawn by four splendid white farm horses, K. of C. Knitting guild, Red Cross women and Red Cross float representing the famous drive poster, "The Greatest Mother in the World"; Mitchell Boys' school. Father Mathews Temperance society and two service men driving a gaily decorated "water wagon," I.O.O.F. and Rebekah organizations.

The parade circled the common and was then dismissed, the service men being escorted to specially reserved seats for them in front of the speaker's stand where the afternoon exercises and presentation of medals was to take place. The address of welcome was made by Thomas F. Sheridan, chairman of the selectmen. Brigadier General Charles H. Cole was to give an address but failed to show up. Congressman John Jacob Rogers was an invited guest and gave a short address. He was introduced as a friend of all soldiers, and received a good reception.

The presentation of medals was preceded by a short semi-historical address given by E. Walter H. Doggett, chairman of soldiers and sailors information committee. He alluded to the oneness of purpose and high patriotic motives which had inspired all the citizens of the town to cheerfully and earnestly collaborate in all matters not only pertaining to the soldiers and sailors themselves but to their families and dependents at home. He spoke feelingly of the men who died while in the service of their country, both men serving in France and men who were influenza victims in the military camps.

The names of these men are: Frederick H. Casey, Harold W. Estey, Robert L. Fisk, William H. McGrath, Albert A. Welton and Winthrop A. Wright. Isaac Newell, Jr., died after being discharged shortly. As the names were read off by Selectman Sheridan, the soldier or sailor came forward to the stand, was greeted by Pastor Doggett and received the bronze medal of honor presented by the town of Billerica as a token of gratefulness from the hands of Selectman Thomas Talbot Clark.

The medal has the name of the recipient engraved on the back of it. It is a very beautiful medal with the seal of the town hanging pendant and with the ribbon of the national colors suspended from the bar pin. In the case of the recipient not being present yesterday the medal was awarded to the nearest of kin or other member of the family. A very impressive ceremony was attended to the presentation of the medals to the relatives of the six dead heroes. The military tribute to the dead, solemn blowing of taps, was sounded by a military bugler and when he had finished, war in the distance another bugler was heard repeating the call. After this representatives of the families came forward and were given the medals.

At 6 p. m. there was a banquet provided at the town hall with the town as host to the service men and a few of the war workers. Short addresses were made by Father Murphy of North Billerica, Pastor Armstrong of the Baptist church, Pastor Welsh of the Unitarian church, Warren Manning, president of the board of trade, and Selectman Sheridan.

After the banquet the service men were invited to remain for a short time by Capt. Hosmer and discuss the matter of forming a Billerica branch of the American Legion.

Billerica's celebration is in reality a two-day affair as this afternoon there is to be an athletic program on Kohlrausch Field. The committee in charge of these sports consists of Frederick G. Brown, Albert S. Bull, Henry J. Mahoney and John Larrett. This evening a concert and ball is to take place at town hall. Billerica in honoring her world war veterans did the thing a little differently from some of the other towns in that entire arrangements were placed in the hands of the three selectmen with the tasks divided up so that Mr. Sheridan was in charge of

Two Bathers Arrested and Taken to Woburn Court

Silver Lake, usually a very cool and quiet resort, had lots of excitement yesterday when a riot was threatened and only the use of revolvers prevented the mobbing of the proprietor of the ice house on the shore of the lake, and a young man supposed to be his son.

For some time past it has been customary for bathers to use the ice house as a convenient place in which to urinate before entering the water. They had been using the runways and floors of the building so long for this purpose that they did not suppose there was any objection to its use. Last week, however, notices appeared warning bathers not to trespass on the premises. Following the old custom, however, and rendered in a degree reckless by the great heat, some bathers disregarded the signs and left their clothing in the shelters of the ice house as they went into the water.

Two young men on leaving the water found their clothes removed and when they entered the precincts of the ice house to search for them they were met by the proprietor with an ice pick and driven off by force.

They demanded their clothes but were told they could not have them.

Then a mob of over a hundred young men including many soldiers who had served in the war, gathered and were about to storm the ice house when they were met by the defenders with drawn revolvers. Two men, one said to be selectman of the town, told the crowd to get back and to leave his premises. The second man, also with drawn revolver, was equally threatening.

The crowd fell back and in a short time two police officers arrived from Woburn whence they had been called by the ice house men. They arrested the two young men whose clothing had been seized and took them to Woburn to be brought before the court on charge of trespass as nothing more serious can be brought against them. There is no prohibition against bathing in the lake as hundreds go there from points within a radius of ten miles for a swim. The ice house man seems to be the only one who has raised any objection.

There was great indignation yesterday among the bathers as a result of the unexpected action of the gunmen. Silver Lake is in the town of Wilmington.

LUNATICS ESCAPE WHEN TROOPS ALONG RHINE ATTENDANTS STRIKE CELEBRATE FOURTH

DUBLIN, June 24. (Correspondence of the Associated Press).—The strike fever in Ireland extended to the insane asylums in Munaghan and Clonmel, the attendants demanding better pay and shorter hours. Only two doctors, a clerk and storekeeper remained to attend to 700 patients. About a score of the lunatics escaped and wandered about the country. The strikers assisted in the care of the suicidal and bad cases.

The demands of the strikers were granted later by the authorities.

"Most Tremendous Fourth of July Ever Imagined,"—Wilson

ON BOARD THE U. S. S. GEORGE WASHINGTON, Friday, July 4.—(By wireless to the Associated Press).—"This is the most tremendous Fourth of July ever imagined, for we have opened its franchise to the whole world," said President Wilson in a stirring speech to soldiers and sailors massed on the deck of the presidential steamer this afternoon. The men gave him three cheers as he appeared among them and began his address by greeting them as "my fellow citizens." It was a striking picture, with several thousand khaki-clad doughboys and blue-jacketed sailors crowding the decks, life boats and riggings and with the president, bare headed and earnest, in their midst. His theme was "The new and enlarged meaning of the Fourth of July" as the star has borne America's message of liberty and independence to the remotest corners of the earth. He spoke of the future to America, and said: "You cannot earn a reputation like that and not live up to it."

The party will proceed to the Pennsylvania station which they will leave at 5 p. m. for Washington, arriving at the capitol at about 10 o'clock.

Switzerland Bars Wife of Bela Kun

GENEVA, Friday, July 4.—Madame Bela Kun, wife of the foreign minister of the Hungarian soviet government, arrived at the Swiss frontier yesterday, but was not allowed to cross by the authorities, who applied the new law controlling the entry of aliens.

She had a large sum of money with which it is supposed that she intended to engage in Bolshevik propaganda. She also had several large trunks and many servants. After the refusal of the authorities to permit her to enter Switzerland she went to Innsbruck.

THIS IS PLENTY HOT ENOUGH, THANK YOU

Today is claimed to be the hottest day of 1919 so far, by some, while others make you more tired and hot than what you already are by reciting some personal experience to show that yesterday was hotter.

At any rate thousands of Lowell mill operatives as well as other workers in different industries have good cause to be thankful the mill owners declared a week-end holiday and the looms are idle today.

If the store of J. B. V. Coburn, 11 Mammoth road, is not the city's hottest emporium it must be next to it for today a tidy over there with a cool sounding voice said that while the temperature was 102 at 2 p. m. today, yesterday the merry old thermometer juzzed up to register 110 degrees of heat.

Down at the drug store of Charles L. Cordeau, Aiken street and Lakeview avenue, the report was of a nature for any person hearing it to congratulate Cordeau and all in his company for his scale registered heat of only 90 degrees in the shade.

We missed the courteous folk at the Locks and Canals office today when they failed to answer the telephone because it is headquarters for cold, heat, rainfall and storm dope, but with the mills closed down, mercifully enough Engineer Arthur Stafford and his co-workers apparently were enjoying a brief holiday.

At the gatehouse of the Locks and Canals corporation in Fairmont street the report was that the thermometer registered 102 in the shade. The outside temperature of city hall was reported to be 100. Down at Edison cemetery the temperature was reported to be 102 in the shade.

Giant Biplane Forced to Land

HALIFAX, N. S., July 5.—The giant Handley-Page biplane Atlantic, under the command of Vice Admiral Kerr, which left Harbor Grace, N. E., yesterday, on route to New York and Atlantic City, landed in the streets of Parrsboro at 5.30 o'clock this morning.

Parrsboro is a town about 35 miles west of here. The airplane left Harbor Grace at 4.15 p. m. yesterday, on its 1200 mile trip. It is presumed that the big biplane was diverted from its intended course across the Bay of Fundy as a result of fog. Her schedule called for passing over Halifax at midnight last night. The airplane was forced to descend owing to engine trouble and was damaged beyond immediate repair. No member of the crew was injured.

How to Save Your Hair From Falling Out

Scales and dandruff cause the hair to sicken, die and eventually fall out. To get rid of dandruff you have got to keep the scalp clean and the pores open. Everybody's head ought to be washed at least once a week, but don't make the mistake of using common soaps. They contain too much alkali, which leaves the hair dry and harsh. Birt's Head Wash removes dirt, dandruff, germs and microbes. It leaves the scalp soft and moist and the hair fine and glossy. Its regular use will help to completely overcome dandruff and itching scalp. It stops hair from falling out.

HAD TO SIT STILL ALL DAY—COULDN'T GET UP OFF CHAIR

Mrs. Bert Frary of 25 Middle St., Leominster, Mass., says: "I suffered terribly for three years when I went through change of life and it left me in pretty bad shape. When I laid down at night I would have to get right up. I had terrible coughing spells and raised a great deal. I had rheumatism in my knees which was in the joints and muscles. I got so bad I couldn't get up off a chair and every time I tried to I would fall on the floor. My kidneys bothered me a good deal and I just felt miserable all the time. After a time a friend advised me to take Goldine and I did."

If you are wondering what Goldine will do for you, just ask Mrs. Frary about it and what it has done for her.

Remember, GOLDINE is sold in Lowell by Carter & Sherburne, F. H. Butler & Co., W. H. Calkins, Jr., Fred McNair, Wm. H. Noonan, R. F. Webster, Frye & Crawford Co. It is also sold by Roland G. # CONGRESS RESTS AFTER STORMY SESSION OF PARTISAN STRIFE

League of Nations the Burning Issue at Washington---Both Branches Await President's Message---Notes and Incidents at Capital

(Special to The Sun)
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 5.—Congress has just taken a week's recess after one of the most strenuous months of hard work ever known to that body. Meeting in extra session on May 19th, there has been scarcely a minute's lull-up (ill) adjournment at midnight Tuesday. There have been prolonged hearings before committees, long hours in the daily session, a number of night sessions and at last conference over the bills as passed by senate and house, to which agreement was made only after hot debate and bitter contests. Billions of dollars have been provided for emergency measures in the way of bounties and extra clerks have been dispensed with, a reduction of more than one billion dollars has been accomplished by not passing the appropriation bills according to the forecasted needs of last winter, and taken all in all, it has been a remarkable six weeks of congressional work. In many cases there have been hot debates and bitter wrangles between the republicans and democrats, but taken as a whole there has been a very generous acceptance of existing conditions and the two parties have worked hand in hand for the best good of the country, as each say it. Nothing will now be done in either branch until the president returns and delivers his address to the senate regarding the peace treaty. All supply bills have been passed and are waiting the presidential signature. The appropriations expired June 30th, so nominally the United States government is entirely without funds until the president signs the bills, but in reality there will be no financial embarrassment. The first act of the president will be to affix his signature to the supply bills. Next he will address the senate, then start on a campaign to urge support throughout the country for the League of Nations. In his absence the house will take up the prohibition measures and the senate will discuss the treaty. A number of senators, both for and against the league, will tour the country, and Washington will be deserted and the doings of congress but a side issue in comparison to the great question of the treaty and the league, according to present indications. Many of the senators and congressmen who live within a comparatively short distance have gone home for the recess over the Fourth. There is a strong impression that except prohibition, no measure will come before the house this summer, although leaders do not admit the question settled. In that case a series of three-day recesses will begin late in July and continue until the senate has completed its discussion of the treaty or until some other business calls the house into action. Practically all of the Massachusetts delegation has gone home for the short recess, many of the men are to make patriotic speeches on the Fourth and during that week. Senator Walsh and Congressman Rogers being among them, and Speaker Gillett has also a number of home speaking engagements for that time.

Plum for New England

Through the McLean amendment to the agricultural bill Massachusetts gets an additional $33,000 for co-operative farm work. Senator McLean felt that the New England states were not getting their just proportion under existing plans and succeeded in getting through an amendment for an additional sum of $200,000 in the agricultural bill to be used outside the cotton belt states, and in the division Massachusetts will benefit as above stated.

Sound Sleeping Senator

Senator Fernald of Maine is this week getting many a sly dig in the ribs from friends and colleagues on his "good old New England conscience" which lets him sleep through fire and water. A few nights ago the great hotel where the senator makes his Washington home was badly damaged by fire, but no one was injured and the management, fearing a panic, did not awaken the guests, many of whom slept undisturbed through all the confusion. The fire was confined to the basement but raged several hours. In the morning one of the senator's friends called him up by telephone and said anxiously: "Are you all right after the fire?" "What fire?" inquired the senator. When told that a $25,000 fire had gutted the basement of his hotel and that from 2 o'clock in the morning engines poured great streams of water into it for more than two hours, the senator was one of the most astonished men to be found in the city. "Never heard a sound" was all he could say.

Vice President's Amusement

Vice President Marshall is a devoted student of what he calls "just plain humanity." Nothing he likes better than to sit in a shady corner of the capitol veranda, under the great granite pillars, and watch the tide of pedestrians and vehicles pass to and fro on the capital plaza. From this secluded corner he can study humanity without interruption. These who know who he is do not disturb him and those who do not recognize him as the vice president of the United States think him merely a tired sightseer or a man waiting to see his "home senator." In his quiet sulk of gray the vice president cools off many a hot afternoon smoking his cigar and sizing up the passing crowd.

President Wilson's Seat

Although the great seal of the United States will appear twice on the peace treaty or treaties, it will be only in the final stage. It will be used to ratify the treaty, and on the proclamation by the president announcing the completion of the convention. In all other instances the president has used his personal seal. This seal is a peculiar one and is said to be the only case in which a shorthand inscription has played a part in treaty making. When a college student the president became a good shorthand man. Since he became chief executive it has been his habit to write in shorthand many of his most important messages and then sit down to his typewriter and do the clerical work himself. That is a fact of his. And it happened that a few years ago a chunk of California gold was presented to him and out of it he had made a signet ring with the words "Woodrow Wilson" engraved on it in shorthand. This has been his personal seal ever since, and it was this seal ring that was used in affixing his signature to the treaty in Paris.

OVERCOME BY HEAT

Laura Valros, a resident of North Billerica, was overcome by the heat shortly before 11 o'clock last night at the corner of Westford and Gates street and was removed in the ambulance to St. John's hospital, where it was learned this morning that she was quite well and would leave the institution today.

MRS. SKEELS ILL AFTER BEING ACQUITTED

LAWRENCE, July 5.—Mr. and Mrs. Alfred J. Lundgren, the latter Besse Mae (Skeels) Lundgren, who was acquitted Thursday night of the murder of Miss Florence W. Gay, will go to Bayonne, N. J., Mrs. Lundgren's former home, as soon as the freed woman is able to leave Andover. She suffered a slight collapse Thursday night and was not very well yesterday, although her husband said her condition was not serious. Nothing has developed locally regarding the arrest of Mrs. Lundgren for the alleged murder of her brother, Alfred H. Wilkins. Mr. Lundgren said last night he did not believe any further attempts would be made to prosecute his wife.

SAYS HOSPITAL BILL WAS TOO HIGH

The industrial accident board has decided that St. John's hospital has charged too high a bill against the Employers' Liability Co. of Boston on Jan. 5 for treatment of John P. Ryne who went to the hospital on Jan. 3 on account of an injury and was treated under the terms of the workmen's compensation act. It had previously been agreed that patients treated under this act should have private rooms at the hospital, but at the time of Ryne's injury only a general ward was available. Nevertheless, the bill sent to the Boston company was at the rate charged for patients in private rooms. The accident board has adjudged this as unreasonable.

LOWELL HAS SAFE AND SANE FOURTH

"The quietest Fourth ever," was what the Lowell police called it. A mere handful of offenders were booked at the station Thursday night and over the holiday, and the majority of these were from out of town. Several complaints were received from people who had been "touched" for their bankroll while doing the midway on the South common, but no arrests were made, the congestion of the common making it next to impossible to apprehend the alleged pickpockets. Twelve kiddies who had strayed away from their parents during the day were brought to the station for safe keeping, and later returned to their homes.

CANADA VERY LITTLE DISTURBED BY INDUSTRIAL UNREST

Agricultural Activities Continue, With Prospects for More Good Crops---Situation Normal Despite Strikes---Jobs for Ex-Soldiers

TORONTO, July 5.—On the eve of the midsummer slackening of general operations and at the turn of the first half year of reconstruction, it may be interesting to glance at the present economic situation in Canada. For a month past all surface indications of conditions have been clouded by industrial unrest, and this is likely to give a distorted view of general conditions. It is true that the average business man or financier, when interrogated, will speak with a certain amount of discouragement because of the reiterated statements of strikes at many points of the compass. The situation recalls the impression most Canadians once had of life in the United States—that it is all made up of murders and divorce cases, because that was about all the news that came through on the wires. Happily that day of meagre and sensational information has passed. In the same way it is hoped that American people will realize that though strikes have been all too plentiful here of late, the normal life of the people is really little disturbed. Agricultural operations are going along without a ripple, with every prospect of good returns. There is a slight decrease in the total wheat acreage, which in 1918, 55,550,000, compared with 17,354,902 acres last year. Out acreage exceeds 11,000,000, though it is 1 per cent. below last year, while other crops show little change. The continued wet weather in the spring accounts mainly for the difference, especially in eastern Canada. In the west, however, favorable weather following late seedling brought on rapid growth. Generally speaking, grain in the west is now in excellent condition. A peculiar incident was the fall of a late wet snow in Alberta early in May, which supplied just the needed moisture for land which frequently suffers from too little rain. On the whole it is stated that fall wheat, rye, barley, clover and pasture show a condition above better than last year, though two points below average, and the other crops are below average and below the conditions of last year. A glance over a large number of reports from different parts of Canada received by a large financial institution confirms the feeling that normal activities exist in most parts of the country. An encouraging and almost unanimous feature of these reports is that the returned soldiers are being absorbed quickly and almost completely into civil life. Modifications of this were seen in Vancouver, which has received back considerably more soldiers than it sent to the war, and in Montreal, Ottawa and Toronto, where the re-absorption had not quite kept pace with the arrivals but was not far enough behind to cause any anxiety. In a great many instances communities are taking back their fighters into the positions they left. This is especially the case in villages and farm life, where the men's places had been kept for them or they merely returned to their own business or farm. There has been little complaint of lack of farm labor this year and work is going on almost with a pre-war swing. An encouraging feature of farm conditions is the news that more live stock is being raised in the prairie provinces. This will prevent the utter dependence of the farmers there on Continued to Page 5—Second Section

Quarter Century Ago

July 4, 1894, fell upon a Sunday and there was very little in Lowell to disturb the Sabbath stillness of the day. As the old Sun described it, there was "no celebration, no money, no fun." Business was quite dull that year and the city council refused to appropriate any money for a celebration. At North Billerica there was some formal attempt to observe the day; but in Lowell the only thing unusual was the display of flags throughout the city and a concert by St. Patrick's Cadet band on the North common. Old Cordage Mill Burned On the day following the Fourth the blaze in a yard in Church street. At 10.20 o'clock there was a still alarm for a brush fire on the Aiken street dump. At 2.17 o'clock a telephone alarm was sent in for a fire in the fence of St. Patrick's cemetery. At 5.15 o'clock an alarm was sounded from box 55 for a roof fire at 15 Oakland street. At 5.31 there was a telephone alarm for a fence fire in Bartlett street. At 5.45 there was an alarm from box 55 for the same fire in Bartlett street. At 5.45 there was also a telephone alarm for a threatening grass fire at the corner of Moody and Colonial avenue. At 5.30 p. m. an alarm was sounded from box 75 for a slight fire on the steps of a house in Crawford street and at 1.29 o'clock this morning an alarm was sent in from box 119 for a slight blaze at the corner of Common and Salem streets.

Lady Lookabout

What I cannot for the life of me understand is the utter indifference with which news of the ratification of the Susan B. Anthony amendment by the legislature of Massachusetts was received. With tooth and nail, battle for and against has been waged for years. Now it is won by the suffragists, yet hardly a word do we hear about the victory. Even the press is silent. There hasn't even been a parade. And when there isn't a parade, sentiment is running pretty low. It may be that it is a little early. Ratification by a few more states is necessary before the amendment can be added to the federal constitution, and the present silence may be intentional, but when the final ratification comes, when there is no longer the least doubt about it, when the discrimination against one-half the people has been forever removed, the silence may be broken.

Doughboys Wed German Girls

There is something very appealing to those of us who have not become so worldly that the romantic side of us has vanished, in the requests being sent to Uncle Sam by his fighting nephews in the Army of Occupation in Germany, for his approval of their wedding German maids. We have heard of instances where those who come to fight remained to stay, but the instances where they came to kill and ended in love, are more rare. It is but proof that warfare, old and successful as it may be as a method of ironing out international difficulties, is a failure in some respects. Now that the war is over, it is a safe wager that Uncle Sam will not only give his consent to these marriages, but will also add a hearty, "Bless you, my children."

Yeomen (F) and D. S. Medals

One day last week I rejoiced with the yeomen (F) when it was announced that they would receive the bonus of one hundred dollars to be given to every enlisted person. A little later I sympathized with them when it was given out that they would not receive the one hundred dollars. The law under which every enlisted person should receive this bonus had been amended to exclude yeomen (F). Naturally there is a division of opinion in regard to whether these girls should or should not receive this money. There is another matter in connection with them, however, about which it seems to me there is no room for any division of opinion. This week's newspapers announced that one hundred fourteen of these charming young women had been awarded Distinguished Service medals. Those of us who know what a soldier must do in order to be awarded one of these medals will look at once for records of valorous deeds on the part of the yeomen (F). Deeds where a soldier's own life and safety were wholly forgotten in saving the lives of comrades in great danger; capturing enemies under tremendous odds; carrying secret messages, and the like. So we read on, curious to know the valorous deeds which won this mark of great honor by one hundred fourteen pretty typists and stenographers. We find it: "For neatness in dress!" Something within us crumbles—an ideal, or something. Gone is the charm of the coveted D. S. medal. If I were a soldier who had won this mark of distinction by hazarding my life, I should deeply resent having a group of girls win it for neatness in dress. It must be that the government had a number of the medals struck off in anticipation of an army of heroes which failed to materialize, and rather than leave them to moth and rust, thought out this way of disposing of them.

Lower Carfares Needed

The municipal council is combining its forces with the councils of other cities in an endeavor to secure lower prices for gasoline. This is a very worthy endeavor, but as I read it I could not help thinking how much more worthy would be an attempt by the combined influence of these city councils to secure lower carfares for the people of their cities. Gasoline, any one will admit, has become a necessity, but with advanced carfares the people most hurt are those least able to endure any further advance in the cost of the necessities of life. In many cases it equals the amount paid for rent. If we can believe the statements of the Bay State company, there is no question but it is in a very bad financial condition, be the cause what it may. The solution reached by its trustees is not a solution at all. In the first place it is going to discourage patronage, especially during this season when a car ride is the only recreation possible to many, and secondly, there is no solution in an arrangement which will tend to impair the welfare of the working people by forcing them to find homes within walking distance of their work. This will bring them into the congested portlands of the city, and the result on public health will show itself before long. Should the Bay State decide to return to the nickel unit of fare, the rush of business would tax its means of handling it. There is no question but that the present amount of business would be doubled, for few persons who work hard all day are walking for the pure love of walking and the need of exercise.

It would seem that if the municipal councils can use their combined forces against the worldwide power of the Standard Oil company with success, surely they can do something with the Bay State.

LADY LOOKABOUT.

HOT WEATHER TIPS FOR MOTHERS AND BABIES—VALUABLE LEAFLET

The New York city department of health has just issued a most valuable leaflet on the summer care and treatment of babies which should be in the hands of every young mother.

It summarizes the advice on Hot Weather Health for Baby, by Mrs. Max West, just completed in this newspaper, and is a short, but complete set of rules and regulations for protecting baby life in hot weather.

Every mother should memorize and apply the rules to the care of her own baby. Here they are:

Don't kiss the baby on the mouth or allow your friends to do so.

Don't give soothing syrups to the cross baby.

Don't give "patent" cough mixtures for a cough.

Don't fail to secure the best milk you can afford to buy.

Don't allow flies to rest or feed on baby's bottle or nipple.

Don't fail to wash bottle and nipple before feeding the baby.

Don't fail, after feeding baby, to wash bottle and nipple. Don't let the milk bottle stand about, off the ice.

Don't fail to keep the baby's food, when prepared, on the ice.

Don't fail to feed at regular periods, day and night.

Don't let the baby use a "pacifier." Constant sucking of a dummy teat causes deformities and interferes with baby's growth.

Don't neglect the daily care of baby's mouth—wash out with boric acid after each feeding.

Don't excite the baby—especially before sleeping time or after eating.

Don't rock the baby to sleep.

Don't let any one sleep with the baby.

Don't let the baby sleep in the sun with light shining into its eyes.

Don't pick up very young babies without supporting the back.

Don't neglect to bathe the baby daily. In summer frequent wet days help.

Don't fail to clean all folds of skin and powder well. Don't let a wet bit or wet can stifle chafe baby's neck.

Don't keep baby in the house; fresh air is necessary for growth.

Don't permit flies to bother baby when sleeping; use a net.

Don't fall to screen in the windows, particularly in the nursery, against flies and insects.

Don't forget that babies nursed by their mother's milk, and given plenty of fresh air, have three times the advantage over others in escaping diarrhoea, pneumonia and children's infections.

Don't expect a quiet, composed, healthy baby unless you do your part thoroughly and constantly.

Don't forget that a mother who thinks her milk is not right or sufficient for her baby may secure medical advice on how to improve it, in both quality and quantity—she should consult her private physician or go to the offices of the department of health.

"PRESTO!" THE TURBAN CRIED
"BEHOLD ME NOW A HAT"—IT COMES FROM PARIS

BY BETTY BROWN

They say it comes from Paris—in fact it is acclaimed as the latest creation of Paris milliners. Without attempting to doubt, we are tempted to suggest Africa, Arabia, or perchance Turkey, as its starting place. Just the same, but whatever its origin, behold this, one of the oddest of odd new hat conceptions designed by a Paris milliner-artist. Furthermore, England lends its support. London critics affirm that turban effects in hats have come to stay—that this is no "sport" botanically speaking, but is a real style. As for color, almost any shade of ribbon may be used. A hat for every gown is an easy requirement to fill. If one chooses to buy a few bolts of ribbon to match them. But supposing the maid has some such combination as dark brown hair and hazel eyes—could anything be prettier than such a hat of rich new chestnut shade of ribbon?

PARIS SAYS "BE COOL, BE FRILLY!"

BY BETTY BROWN

If there is one thing more refreshing than a summer breeze it's a crisp organdie frill.

Dear Paris decrees that the really smart woman shall indulge heavily in crispness—especially in ruffles! To be both picturesque and cool-looking in summer is the mark of the artist in dress—than which there is no greater art!

As a beginning persuade your mo-destie—or your own clever fingers to create one of these prize confections—the first a delicate English print in black and yellow and yellow on a white ground, fashioned divertingly like an apron and stitched about with black and yellow wool! Behold the perky organdie guimpe with its woolly edge!

And, of course, never neglect the mere frothy frill of dawn pink organdie, suffled in cascades and louched up with black satin ribbons.

Georgette crepe and veil caught up with orange blossoms and carried bridal roses and sweet peas. The witnesses were Messrs. Joseph L. Lamoureux, father of the bridegroom and Edmond Doyon, brother of the bride. At the close of the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride, the couple being assisted in receiving by Mr. Leon Lamoureux and Miss Regina Goulet. The happy couple, who were the recipients of numerous wedding gifts will make their home in this city.

HUSBAND'S SONGS LEAD WIFE TO DIVORCE COURT—STORY OF SHATTERED ROMANCE

The story of a shattered romance told in song titles—that's the evidence that Mrs. Grant Clarke offers in asking for a divorce. She was Helen Patten when Clarke wrote "One in a Million Like You." They were married 45 minutes later. But after two years of married life Clarke wrote, "Sit Down, You're Rocking the Boat." "That meant me," says Mrs. Clarke. "But after that he wrote 'I Hate to Lose You and I Love the Ladies' and when 'There's a Little Bit of Bad in Every Good Little Girl' followed these, I decided to get a divorce."

EXCELLENT DISPLAY OF FIREWORKS ON COMMON

One of the prettiest and most spectacular exhibition of fireworks that Lowell has seen in many years was that given last evening on the South common under the auspices of the municipal authorities. The exhibition formed the finale of the welcome home celebration in honor of returned soldiers and sailors and was witnessed by a crowd estimated at 50,000.

The National Fireworks Manufacturing association staged the exhibition. James J. Gallagher was appointed by Mayor Thompson as the local official in charge and several representatives of the company were present to arrange the demonstration.

There were all kinds of pieces in the exhibition from rockets to standing pieces of artistic design. Owing to the long hours of sunlight, the first place was not set off until 9:20 when there was a sufficiently dark background to lend brilliancy to the fireworks. Many of the pieces could be seen all over the city.

Special police arrangements had been made to handle the crowd and everything went off like clockwork. No accidents were reported. A large number of service men were present and with their friends occupied front positions at the exhibition.

LUCKY YARN IS FOR SUMMER KNITTERS

Hardly any kind of fancy work done by women in summer is more convenient to get at or makes better pastime work than ordinary knitting and even at that, in doing ordinary knitting the number of articles that can be made is seemingly without number and of infinite variety. It goes without saying that in knitting the most important part is to have the right material. This brings us face to face with being introduced to that famous and well known Lowell-made product, Lucky Yarn, made by the Lyon Knitting company, 33 West Adams street. It comes in both large and small balls of convenient size and not the least pleasant feature is that nearly every color a woman would wish to have a knitted garment seen in, can be obtained in the yarn itself. All first class Lowell stores sell this yarn including the big department stores and shops where needlecraft material is sold. If you insist on being sold Lucky Yarn you are not only securing a good article for yourself but encouraging a local industry.

GREEN MT. REMEDIES FOR HOT SEASON ILLS

Hot weather customarily brings on a season of ills and physical distress peculiarly associated with trying weather and in this extremity the majority of people, men, women and children, find that when the troubles are of a secondary nature, the good old fashioned home remedies provide a medicine that it is hard to excel.

The Green Mountain Medical Manufactory doing business at 10-12-14 Race street prepares many medicines suitable for summer ills and it will pay the city mother, especially mothers of large families, to call on Mr. A. Pouliot at the above address, have a talk with him and procure a copy of the extensive catalogue of medicines he has issued, that is of itself, a valuable booklet to keep in the home. The basic foundation of the Green Mountain remedies are the herbs found growing wild as well as in herb farms, all through different parts of New England and Canada and as everyone knows, the herb school of medicine is a very old and successful one.

What better food can you use in your home than bread made from milk and the very highest grade flour? Our Milk Loaf is this kind of bread, and manufactured as it is, under the very best conditions and from the very best known methods, it is the best loaf of bread.

PELLETIER'S IS STORE OF LATEST NOVELTIES

Lowell women of a fastidious taste in the smaller articles of feminine wear have grown accustomed to seeking out the Pelletier store at 131 Central street believing that at this store the first novelties and very latest styles from New York can be seen and will be on sale in advance of their advent at any other Lowell store. This of course has won for Pelletier's the distinction of supplying an exclusive class of trade.

But, in contrast to what is usually believed by women shoppers in general, about stores selling this quality of merchandise, the prices at Pelletier's are found to be exceedingly moderate. Pelletier's is a store where women's wear is sold under guarantee and the record of the store backs this up in every respect. The store's line of merchandise includes collars, gloves, fancy blouses, underwear in complete assortment and many articles kept in a store of high class and reputation.

BEST SERVICE AT LOWELL TAXI CO.

When the prospective patron of an auto livery can be assured that he will find the place of business of one company renting cars, always open and ready to receive orders, whether night or day, that only the most careful and skilled drivers are hired and the best of equipment together with moderate prices consistent with doing business in an industrial city, are in vogue, it is of course a great satisfaction.

Many auto renting companies will be found to have some of these good qualities but the only company having all of them is claimed to be the Lowell Taxi Service company. The office is at 119 Paige street, there is a garage where all kinds of repair work is done commercially at 119 Ford street and the company's phone number is 5894-R. This concern makes a specialty of Sunday and holiday parties, weddings and all other occasions where a first class livery service in automobiles is desired.

GROSSMAN BAKERY INCREASES BUSINESS

The Grossman baking company over at 117 Howard street is finding its volume of business increasing in a very wonderful manner and perhaps one reason for it is because this company although an American bakery, makes it an essential part of its business to supply many of the foreign language speaking people of Lowell with the kind of bread to which they were accustomed in their homes over in Europe. There is this exception that while in a general way they get the same style of bread, they find on eating it that the materials used are of distinctly better quality.

The Grossman company makes a specialty of Russian doughnuts and different kinds of pastry including birthday cakes and fine sponge cake. The prices charged are more moderate than are found in most places of the kind and it is well worth the time of the frugal shopper to get acquainted with the Grossman brothers and try their bakery goods. They have telephone and delivery service.

The demands are for a minimum wage of $38 a week for reporters and $45 a week for copy readers. The union claims that the demand for recognition of the union has been refused. The union is a subsidiary of the International Typographical union, which has granted it strike sanction. It claims a membership from seven newspapers of 180 men and women out of a total of 210 in the city.

Excess Weight Can

Be Avoided

The Gardner Machine reduces flesh easily, systematically, and scientifically. Operating in a way to assist nature, IT REDUCES WEIGHT TO NORMAL, AND AT THE SAME TIME BUILDS UP HEALTH AND VITALITY. It is equally effective and harmless for children and elderly people; for those who inherit fat, and those who are just beginning to acquire it. The fat cells are actually broken down and not simply starved, as in the case of dieting. WHEN METABOLISM IS ESTABLISHED, THE REDUCTION IS PERMANENT. Physicians have found it ideal for men and women who suffer from high blood pressure, valvular heart, or a slight stroke of paralysis. In such cases, exercises of sufficient intensity to bring down fat are prohibitive.

ANDREWS' LIMBS ARE

BEST ON THE MARKET

The artificial limb industry is one of the most important in these latter war times, but at that, very few people are aware of the fact that Lowell has in her midst one of the biggest establishments of its kind in this part of the country and that is the factory for artificial limbs conducted by William Andrews at 30 East Bleachery street. This large plant is kept in operation day and night on government orders and according to reports it is turning out a line of goods that is second to none all over the world. Many of its large orders are coming from European countries.

Artificial limbs were first manufactured in this country in 1830 but since that time the art of making artificial limbs has steadily improved and the growing demand for the best that can be produced has inspired the profession to make improvements, and at the present time limbs can be made and fitted so perfectly that it is hard to detect a person wearing them.

In 1871 Mr. Andrews, proprietor of the local factory, had the misfortune of losing one of his legs below the knee and several months later he bought an artificial substitute, but the leg could not be worn with any degree of comfort. After reading and comparing different catalogues Mr. Andrews decided to experiment and see if he could not make a more satisfactory substitute for himself and after considerable effort and study he succeeded in inventing and constructing an ankle joint rubber foot in which are embodied all the constructive features of the Andrews patent. Persons desiring an ankle motion can find in this construction a leg that has no superior. It has a strong reliable ankle joint which is controlled by a spring in the front of the leg and a heel cord, both of which regulate the motion of the foot.

Some manufacturers turn down the rubber foot because of the expense attendant of making the moulds, with necessary knowledge of their construction. Mr. Andrews' factory is open to visitors at any time and it is with the greatest of pleasure that visitors are received. Remember the address, 30 East Bleachery street, Lowell.

SAD DAYS THESE FOR THE DUKES

Great Britain Leads Way in Separating Land Owners From Mineral Rights

America, Too, May Take Underground Privileges Away From "Barons"

BY RICHARD SPILLANE
Foremost American Economist, and Staff Writer for The Sun.
Two developments that mark a revolutionary change in Great Britain have received little attention on this side of the Atlantic, although they may find reflection here in time. One of them is in the matter of coal. Most of the great coal beds of Britain are owned by coal or other old families who got large grants of land centuries ago because some soldier or courtier or, possibly, female among the ancestors of the present owners won the favor of a king.

In the recent coal inquiry the commission called upon the dukes, the lords and others in whom title to the coal lands rests to bring forth the original grants and submit them to scrutiny.

Some of the titled land owners work the mines but the vast majority lease the privilege of operating them to individuals or companies and receive a certain sum for every ton of coal produced on the properties.

Their Moral Right
Various of the land owners have been asked their views as to their moral right to receive toll from the people of today and the right of their descendants in future generations to exact tribute from people now unborn for what is in the earth and what is necessary for the nation. Some of the answers have been blunt declarations that the land belonged to the king at the time of the grants and the nation must protect the rights vested in the present owners by the royal gifts.

Otherwise, they declare, the whole structure of property ownership would be imperiled. Others have made it plain that they consider the questions of the commissioners impertinent. A very few have acknowledged that there should be a limit to "grants in perpetuity" to what is buried in the earth and what is a necessity to a nation's life.

The coal commission report will recommend nationalization of the coal lands of the empire. The present owners will receive from the government a certain award in consideration of their surrender of their mineral rights.

What the award will be remains to be seen. Surely it will not be anything like what the dukes and lords desire or demand, but their protests are not likely to be of much avail for a testimony of conditions under which coal miners lived shocked the public and the ideas of the British people in regard to "vested rights" have changed radically on account of the war. One of the four things brought out in the investigation was that in the war period for every advance in the wage of the miner or every increase in cost of mining or for every swelling of the income tax rate the mine owners added enough to the charge for the privilege of taking coal out of the earth to net them more than they received before the war. In fact, they penalized the nation for its urgent coal needs in the time of national peril and fattened on the war as they never did before.

Nationalization of coal is accepted as certain. Now comes another phase of the mineral question.

Oil in Derbyshire
The extraordinary rise in coal costs has led the British to seek oil in the British Isles. For the drilling operations conducted by Lord Cowdray the government advanced $5,000,000. When his lordship struck oil in Derbyshire the whole empire rejoiced. The first reports were of an excellent flow of petroleum and a promise of a most important development. Since then little has come from official sources regarding the "strike." There's a reason. It is this: While Lord Cowdray's confidence in finding oil streams or an oil stream in the British Isles has been justified nothing so far warrants the belief that the "strike" is important. The quality of the oil is good, but the quantity is disappointing.

One 200,000-gallon tank is to be built near the wells "brought in." How long it will take to fill that tank remains to be seen. His lordship is drilling in other parts of England and Scotland and may meet with success. It is to be hoped he will, for otherwise Great Britain will have a frightful handicap in regard to fuel.

Land Owners Compensated
Immediately upon the news of the oil "strike" a demand was made upon the government for a statement as to whether the owner of the lands on which wells were "brought in" would have vested rights in the oil. The answer given was that the arrangement made with the land owners on whose properties wells were sunk was that they would be compensated. There has been no official definition of what compensation means in this case but unofficially it is announced that a certain award will be made and thereafter the lands in question and the mineral wealth below the surface revert to the nation.

If Great Britain goes to the nationalization of mineralized land there undoubtedly will be a move in the same direction in this country. In Oklahoma Indians who never turned a hand toward bringing oil out of the earth are receiving many millions of dollars a year royalty for the privilege of bringing the wealth buried under the earth to the surface of the earth. It is so in regard to whites who own lands in California, Indiana, Texas, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Kentucky, and elsewhere on which coal or oil has been discovered.

The world is undergoing a revolution in sentiment. Vested rights so far as copper, iron, coal, oil and other elements buried in the earth are not viewed as they used to be. Such natural wealth is likely to be nationalized in every country if Great Britain leads the way.

FIRST FRIDAY OBSERVANCE
Yesterday was observed by the local Catholic churches as the first Friday of the month and a large number of the faithful received communion at the early morning masses.

ARKANSAS AND THE SUFFRAGE AMENDMENT

Women in Arkansas are in line to put through a special session of the legislature for ratifying the federal suffrage amendment. Suffrage organizations of at least two counties have agreed to pay the expenses of their legislators if necessary. This was stated in a message from Mrs. T. T. Cotnam, president of the Arkansas Equal Suffrage association to the National American Woman Suffrage association.

Arkansas is the second suffrage state in which the suffrage organizations are financial backers of a special sessions movement. Colorado suffragists having already assured the state legislature that they will go shares on the costs. Colorado is one of the oldest suffrage states and Arkansas is the first primary suffrage state in the Union.

Letters have been written by the Arkansas equal suffrage committee to every member of the 1919 general assembly asking if they would be willing to come to Little Rock for a one-day special session to ratify the amendment.

Mrs. Cotnam does not feel that cost should enter into the decision of a question that is just and right. "I believe a majority of our legislators will not ask pay for one day's session for this purpose," she writes. "If, however, it should be necessary to defray their traveling expenses, I feel that the suffragists of the state would raise the money."

"We feel a peculiar pride in the fact that Arkansas was the first southern state to grant any full measure of suffrage to women; and we want to be the first southern state to ratify the amendment."

"This will be the most important presidential election in the last 20 years, and congress in passing the amendment recognized the fact that women the country over are vitally interested in the problems of reconstruction."

Mrs. Cotnam may and support in the attitude of George Gordon Battle, a southerner, widely known as one of New York's leading attorneys and unequivocally in favor of the federal suffrage amendment.

"Heartily in favor of ratification," is the way he approaches the question in a statement made to the National American Woman Suffrage association.

"I have always believed in universal suffrage," he says, "as I have confidence in the good sense of the majority of the adult citizens. Having these democratic sympathies, I have been able to see no reason why the right of suffrage should not be extended to women, and I have therefore, strongly advocated the measure in the past. Now that the amendment has passed the congress and is to be submitted to the legislatures of the respective states, I have no doubt that the result will be favorable. Indeed, I think the result is a foregone conclusion, and one of the strongest arguments in favor of the amendment is the fact that it is in any event inevitable."

MOHAWK TONIC IS WINNING FRIENDS

Have you ever tried the Mohawk tonic distributed in this city and neighboring town by the Trussell Importing Co.? If not it is time to wake up and give this delicious beverage a test. It is claimed by many that this famous drink has no equal on the market, for it is manufactured with herbs and roots, things that refresh. This company also handles ginger ale and tonics of other flavors and renders prompt service. Write P. O. Box 51, Lowell or telephone 2531.

In July, 1917, Levi Young, a 15-year-old boy, living near Riley, Ind., obtained a pure-bred hog weighing only 60 pounds, and with this little start he now has a herd of 30 pure-bred animals, worth more than $1000. Thus he has earned more than $500 a year while attending high school, and he expects by raising pigs to pay his way through college.

The local evening newspaper is the paper that reaches the home when the whole family is there to read it. The Sun fills this field in Lowell.

Canada Little Disturbed

the wheat crop and it will help supply the world's great need of meat.

New Communities Opened

Condition of live stock on the prairies is reported to be favorable, although hogs in some districts suffered from the severe winter. The opening of new communities, especially in the Peace River country, is proceeding rapidly with hundreds of settlers entering, the majority of them being from the United States.

General industrial conditions have been spoken of with optimism. It is a true that Montreal has had a number of strikes, but industry is too large there to suffer any serious setback from the troubles up to the present. The report from there includes this declaration: "The textile, woolen and shoe manufacturers, as well as smaller industries, seem well employed on a profitable basis." So with the small and busy cities of western Ontario, where industries have made great strides during the last few years. In one or two cases anxiety is voiced as to who is going to perform all the "common labor" if the aliens are driven home to Europe by persecution here or by family calls from homes.

Building operations are more active but still below expectations.

At the present time a cloud hangs over the mining camps in both Ontario and British Columbia. The strike at the Crow's Nest coal mines is rapidly producing a famine in coke for other industries in the western province, and there may be more or less of a tie-up for a time. The first to feel the strain is the Granby Consolidated, which has closed its smelter at Grand Forks and its mines at Phoenix. As yet the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company has not been forced to close down, but it is bound to feel the coke famine if the strike continues.

Gold Mines Cut Short

In northern Ontario the gold mines are first to feel the pinch of conditions. They have been operating at a greatly increased cost and with a stationary price for their product. Therefore when there was danger of a strike in Kirkland Lake (one of the smaller camps) the producers closed their mines for an indefinite period. There is no strike yet in force, but there is considerable talk of trouble, which it is hoped will pass over harmlessly. The producers of silver at Cobalt are in a happier position, because of the higher price for their product, and they may not be so ready to close down. Concessions here, should anything critical seem to impend, probably would keep the mines going. In any case the condition of the labor market should prevent any lengthy tie-up, because there are many more men available than during the war, and when the froth of the agitators has blown away peace and production should return.

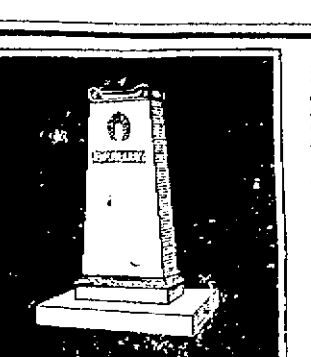

In the Maritime Provinces there has been prosperity from the good market for fish, their main product, and little is heard by way of complaint or industrial matters. Therefore, taking it all in all, if the observers of Dominion conditions will remember that empty shelves still clamor for supplies long depleted, the Dominion's future should not cause much concern.

TWOBLY SQUARE DEDICATED

The Fordway club of North Billerica together with a large majority of the citizens of the North Village, assembled at Fordway bridge recently to participate in the dedication of Twobly square. The exercises were opened by the president of the club, Mr. Brown White who introduced Mr. John Brown as the speaker of the evening. There were remarks by Messrs. Kenney, Barrington and Gannon explaining why the square should be called Twobly square. Mr. Edgar F. Twombly, who owns a greater part of the property in the vicinity, since locating in North Billerica, has taken great interest in town affairs, and has through tireless efforts, developed the locality of Twobly square from a field into a residential section which is a place of beauty and certainly a great improvement to the town. The Victory Fife and Drum corps under the direction of John T. Fairbrother gave several very pleasing selections, the harmony quartet and Charles Fairbrother favored with vocal selections.

BIG CROWD ENJOYS SWIMMING EVENTS

Close to 3000 people attended the swimming races and exhibition which were conducted at the swimming pool on the boulevard yesterday afternoon. The program was under the direction of Police Officer Michael F. Ryne, an expert swimmer, who is the official swimming instructor at the pool, and his efforts were crowned with success.

The judges for the various events were Mayor P. D. Thompson, Andrew Kolloy, John Murray. The scorer was Joseph Mullin, while Officer Ryne acted as starter.

One of the features of the affair was a swimming exhibition given by Officer Ryne, who, with John Gorman, a heavy man, strapped to his back, swam to the middle of the river and back. Mr. Gorman during the trip enjoying himself reading a newspaper and smoking a cigar. A very impressive exhibition of life-saving was also given by Officer Ryne and Mr. Gorman.

AIRPLANE VISITED LOWELL YESTERDAY

Lowell had its first airplane flying overheard yesterday as an incident of the great celebration. It was a Curtiss biplane, with a 150 horse power Hispano engine, and piloted by Lieut. Moffat of the Mineola flying field. N. Y. It passed over the city shortly after 4 o'clock in the morning and after circling for a few minutes went on toward Lawrence, where Lieut. Moffat landed. On the return trip to Camp Devens, where Lieut. Moffat is stationed, he was accompanied by a service recruiting, the "ship" again passed over at a height of about 1500 feet.

LOWELL WINS TWICE FROM FITCHBURG

Lowell celebrated twice yesterday at the expense of Fitchburg and both games of the holiday program were won by Hayden's team. The morning contest at Fitchburg was a slugging contest, with Lowell hitting harder than the home team and winning, 12 to 6. A huge crowd packed grandstand and bleachers at Spaulding Park in the afternoon and in one of the best games of the year, Lowell pitched his team to a clean-cut victory by the score of 7 to 1.

Greibhauser, the newest acquisition to the Lowell pitching staff, worked against Fitchburg in the morning, but retired under fire in the sixth inning, when the home team scored four of its six runs. Baker and Weaver lead with the stick, each getting three hits.

Fully 2500 fans, including many service men, present as guests of the city, saw Lowell win in the afternoon. Tucker was again the winning pitcher in the afternoon, pitching a complete game in the fifth and the last three in the seventh. Fitchburg's lone tally was scored in the sixth inning.

Lowell again demonstrated his great worth, not only as a pitcher, but as a batter and fielder. He got three hits, two of them doubles, and decided his future play of the game in the eighth position. Lowell's regular third baseman of the Fitchburg team, was spiked prior to the game, making it necessary for visitors to play the game in the eighth position. Lowell's regular third baseman of the Fitchburg team, was spiked prior to the game, making it necessary for visitors to play the game in the eighth position.

HAVERHILL WINS TWICE

Haverhill ran its string of consecutive victories up to six yesterday when Lawrence was defeated in two games by the score of 4 to 0 and 7 to 5. A single by Herb White robbed Anderson of a no-hit no-run game in the morning while in the afternoon at Lawrence, heavy batting in the closing innings, coupled with Lawrence errors, settled the contest.

PORTLAND WINS AND TIES

Portland tied Lewiston, 5 to 5, yesterday morning at Lewiston when the game was called at noon by Umpire McCarthy. The game was tied 2 to 2 in the eighth inning, when the home team scored two runs, with only one man out, when the game was called and the umpire had to be escorted from the field by the police.

DEMPSEY WINS CHAMPIONSHIP

Crowned King of Pugilism After Battering Willard All Over Ring in 3 Rounds

Willard Knocked Down 7 Times in First Round—Quits After Third

Defeated Man, Completely Outclassed, Shows Game-ness

TOLEDO, O., July 5.—Jack Dempsey of Salt Lake City is the new king of pugilism. For three rounds he smashed and battered Jess Willard, conqueror of big Jack Johnson, all over the sun-baked ring at Bay View park, while 50,000 persons looked on, electrified yesterday afternoon.

He so outclassed the champion that there never was doubt as to the ultimate result of the contest, which terminated at the end of the third round. Willard's seconds threw his blood-soaked sponge into the centre of the ring after he had tottered to his corner at the end of that round. And lest the significance of the sponge throwing—the time honored admission of defeat—pass unnoticed by the referee, he called it a second or two, a towel floated from the Willard corner and spread itself in the centre of the ring.

To all intents and purposes he whipped the huge Jess Willard, favorite in the meagre betting, in one round. Dempsey thought the referee had announced him winner and actually left the ring. But he was called back and the butchery continued for two rounds more, when Jess, sitting in his corner with a bewildered look on his swollen countenance, failed to respond to the going for the fourth round.

"It was no use to continue," said the former champion. "My strength went from me in the first round."

He sat there apparently the most surprised man in the United States at the moment. His right eye was closed and his right cheek swollen and blue with bruises. Blood covered his body and his arms hung so helplessly over the ropes that it seemed as if a child might give him further abuse without arousing his interest.

Dempsey was breathing hard when the fight ended, but it was from exertion and not from punishment. He escaped almost unhurt, but, as he had been using his arms like trip hammers on the anatomy of his opponent, for nine crowded minutes in a sun that sent the thermometer to 110 degrees, his heart was still pumping at high pressure and he appeared to need the breathing spell.

Willard Knocked All Over Ring

In the first few seconds of the contest it looked as if the experts who had been assigned to keep detailed account of all blows struck might come measurably close to doing so, but it was only for a fraction of a moment. After that they did well to count Jack's blows, let alone take note of how each was made. The challenger knocked the big fellow down five times in the first round and had him hanging helplessly on the ropes, or draped over his own shoulders most of the time when he was not taking advantage of the count.

The crowd thought the fight was over in that round. Willard was down for the seventh time and the count was apparently about to end when the gong sounded. It was a modest gong which could not make itself heard above so many people, and even Dempsey did not get it. He crawled through the ropes and was headed out onto the shoulders of screaming fans.

Champion Looked Confident

Such fighting as the Kansas ranchman produced was placed on exhibition at the onset. He had stood in his corner a picture of confidence. His smile seemed that of one who had a brief and not unpleasant task before him. He certainly was all set to go for just before time was called he was heard to remark: "Let's get this thing over."

He measured the attendance, which disappointed estimates by about 50 per cent., with an appraising eye. Dempsey presented a contrast. None of the confidence of his training camp statements appeared his bearing. The man across from him outweighed him 40 pounds and looked as big and impregnable as a metropolitan bank building. The mood of the challenger was plainly thoughtful and more than one ringside gazer whispered: "He's licked right now."

Willard a Chopping Block

When they were introduced, Jess sauntered over with the cordial manner of one desiring to reassure a youngster, and took his hands in the friendliest way. Jack's handshake was friendly, too, just then, but it was the last token of friendship from those gloves. A minute or so later they were using Willard for a chopping block and some in the crowd were crying, "Stop it! Stop it! It is plain murder!"

Dempsey's first effective blows, which apparently settled Willard's fate, were a right over Jess's shoulder to the jaw, a left to the body and a right to the jaw. Jess staggered. His eye was closed; he reeled, and the challenger, with all the energy of his pulsing youth, began hitting him at will.

The heat of the day was terrific, intensified as it was by the vast acreage of green lumber. During the preliminary bout, which lasted from 11 o'clock till 2.30, a thermometer exposed, as the spectators and fighters were, jumped to 130 degrees, which was the limit of the instrument. It showed 110 degrees when Willard and Dempsey entered the ring.

While the passing of the heavyweight champion was one of the most dramatic events of modern ring history, it was lacking entirely in high class boxing. With the exception of the first three snappy left jabs with which Willard opened the contest, the combat was simply a series of terrific drives and smashes, virtually all of which were delivered by Dempsey.

The Fight By Rounds

Round 1—Willard loomed up like a Goliath against his five-inches-shorter David, and opened the engagement by pumping his long left twice into Dempsey's face, with force enough to make the latter blink. The challenger missed a swing and, slipping into a clinch, landed three body blows with his free left hand carrying but little force. Willard had him easily in a clinch and, partly turning him around, used his rapier-like left again, once to the

CLEAN UP FOR YANKS

Young Pershing Sees Father's Troops Win Athletic Events in Paris

PARISH STADIUM, France, July 4.—Warren Pershing, 11 years of age, today saw his father's soldiers trounce Germany in baseball, beat Australia and France in the medley relay race, make a clean sweep of the shotput, take first place in the high jump, defeat Italy in the tug-of-war, semi-final and win the lively boxing bouts in the stadium. The boy, uniformed and wearing a Sam Brown belt, shook hands with the king of Montenegro and Premier Venizelos of Greece.

LOWELL HORSE SECOND IN FAST RACE

At the Sage Park track, Windsor, Conn., yesterday, Silver King, the property of J. E. Wotton of this city, was second in the 2:10 pacing class. The race was won by James Albert, owned by John J. Fendras of Boston. Time, 2:09 1/2, 2:09 1/2, 2:10 1/2.

SPALDING PARK ECHOES

One of the biggest crowds in years thronged to the park to see the game.

It was hot beyond words, but the fans took it good-naturedly, as they did the wait before the game got under way. This was due to an injury sustained by one of the Fitchburg players just as the game was about to start.

Tuckey is a wise old bird—a crafty pitcher, a good fielder and a peach of a hitter. He got three solid hits, two of them doubles.

Cline has been released by the Lowell management, but will have no trouble catching on with one of the other teams in the league.

With Scanlon and Tuckey both capable of playing good ball in right field and each being a sure hit, it was thought advisable to let Jack go. He has not been hitting well of late.

Baker played fine ball at shortstop and kicked in with one of the most sensational plays ever seen on the local lot, when he killed Jacobson's sure hit and forced Hillman at second.

The United States Cartridge company band occupied one corner of the grandstand and did yeoman work before the game and between the innings. It added considerable jazz to the program.

The Lowell team evidently relishes music with its games, for the team played bang-up ball and didn't seem to mind the heat much.

Penfold has rejoined the Lowell team after a week's vacation. His arm was bothering him, but he says it is O. K. now and is anxious to work.

Lowell goes to Maine tomorrow to meet Portland and Lewiston. The team will play three games in each city and will be away for a week. Portland comes here a week from Monday.

Bill Phoenix, the old New England leaguer, now playing second base for Fitchburg and acting as manager of the club, made a bunch of sweet plays on hard hit balls.

A large delegation came down from Fitchburg to watch the game, including several women. Baseball is popular there.

Dempsey Wins Championship

face was swollen entirely out of shape, while Dempsey was unmarked.

The final session was simply a series of rapid-fire swings which fell on Willard's face and body with pile-driving power and left him completely helpless. He staggered about the ring and wobbled along the ropes utterly unable to defend himself. Blood bubbled from his mouth with every gasp for breath, while the crowd about the ringside began to yell to Referee Percord to stop it. Just as the bell rang and Willard collapsed in his chair, he spat out from the mouth and it was seen that he was in bad condition. As he sat looting from side to side, his chief second, Walter Monahan, talked earnestly to him and when Willard nodded his head Monahan walked over and spoke to Percord. The referee threw up his hands and hurried to Dempsey's corner. He gesticulated in the uproar, and finally pulled Dempsey toward the center of the ring before the new champion realized that Willard's seconds had thrown up the sponge. As soon as he grasped the situation he started for Willard's corner and the late title-holder arose and stepped weakly to meet him. They shook hands and Willard muttered something in reply to Dempsey's remarks, and the fight had passed into history.

Richard Talks

Tex Rickard denied today that he had any intention of promoting another fight soon. He said:

"Dempsey is sure to make a popular champion and will in time be called upon to defend his title, but there is no one in sight at present to give him battle. While he is a wonderfully built athlete, he is not bigger than scores of other men throughout the country and Europe and for that reason will be easier to match than Willard was."

Won in Third

The question in which round Dempsey won the new title was placed before several veteran ring officials by men who had wagers at

He Quit Tobacco

This veteran, S. B. Lamphere, was addicted to the excessive use of tobacco for many years. He wanted to quit but needed something to help him.

He learned of a free book that tells about tobacco habit and how to conquer it quickly, easily and safely. In a letter he writes: "I have no desire for tobacco any more. I feel like a new man. I am glad of others report similarly. Wonderful for cigarette and pipe habit, and chewing."

Anyone desiring a copy of this inspiring book can get it free, postpaid, by writing to Edward J. Woods, 700-31, Station F, New York City. You will be surprised and pleased. Look for quieter nerves, stronger heart, better digestion, improved eyesight, increased vigor, longer life and other advantages. In three days you yourself will quit poisoning yourself with nicotine. In three days you will be rid of the addiction, then become healthy, acquire healthy flesh, add years to your life. Show others this ad."

stake and the consensus was that Dempsey stopped Willard in the third round, as the latter's seconds tossed the towel of defeat into the center of the ring before the bell rang for the beginning of the fourth session. This was the first time that a heavy-weight champion had ever admitted defeat without leaving his chair, as well as the shortest heavyweight championship combat of modern ring history.

CONTROVERSY OVER RESULT

TOLEDO, July 5.—Though a new heavy weight champion has been crowned in Jack Dempsey, and the exodus of fight fans has depleted Toledo hotels, controversy still rages over the sensational defeat of Jess Willard. So many unusual angles developed during the nine minutes of terrific battle bombardment that scarcely two spectators saw the scene the same. The uncertainty regarding the situation at the end of the first round when Dempsey left the ring believing that he had won with a knock out, and the payment of such wagers as hinged on when Willard was stopped, furnished unlimited material for argument.

So great was the uproar about the ring that Referee Percord failed to hear the whistle and continued to count over Willard as he sat on the ring floor near a neutral corner, although Timekeeper Barbour ordered the signal when Percord's arm was falling for the seventh time. The referee notified Dempsey that he had won, and the Salt Lake City pugilist was well on his way to his dressing room before his manager overtook him and told him that he was in danger of being disqualified on a technicality for leaving the ring.

Neither boxer had made any definite plans for leaving the city early today, but it was expected that Dempsey would depart within the next 48 hours in order to fulfill a vaudeville engagement offered him in case he won. So confident was Willard that he would win that he had planned to start in a series of film dramas in which his ring prowess would be of great value. The blows of Dempsey are believed to have shattered this scheme.

Dempsey has no immediate idea of re-entering the ring, for there is no worthy opponent in sight at this time. He will endeavor to turn his newly gained ring laurels into commercial value as has been the custom of all modern holders of the title. It is known, however, that he is ready to defend the championship at any time and it is quite likely that a hunt will be started to find a suitable and drawing antagonist within a few months.

DEMPSEY INVITED TO CAMP DEVENS

Boxing and baseball crowded each other in popularity yesterday, the big Jack-Jess mass at Toledo of course overshadowing all the other. Just as soon as the result was flashed to camp Devens, Daniel J. Sullivan, K. of C. war worker, sent the following telegram to the new champion:

To Jack Dempsey, Training Camp, Toledo, Ohio.
Knights of Columbus war activities committee invite you to perform at camp Devens, Massachusetts, before thousands of soldiers. Wire possible date.

(Signed) DANIEL J. SULLIVAN.
In the first open-air bouts held under the auspices of the K. of C. at Devens yesterday, Joe Gibbs, formerly rounds over Sergeant Young of the camp, Kid Dube of Lewiston lost to Sergeant Swanson. Al Gerard and Joe Horley went to a six-round draw and Johnny Birkley defeated Moxie Fitzpatrick in eight rounds.

Other bouts yesterday resulted as follows:
Gibbons Outpointed
KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 5.—Left Smith of New York outpointed Mike Gibbons of St. Paul in a 10-round boxing match yesterday, according to the news writers.

Langford Loses to Willis
ST. LOUIS, July 5.—Harry Willis won the newspaper decision over Sam Langford in an eight-round open-air bout yesterday.

Greb Gets Decision
TULSA, Okla., July 5.—Harry Greb of Pittsburg gained a referee's decision over Bill Brennan of Chicago in a round fight here yesterday afternoon.

Young Jack Johnson
WATERVILLE, Me., July 5.—With a terrific smash to the jaw Young Jack Johnson knocked out Battling McCreary in the second round here yesterday, following a six-round bout between them, in which McCreary took the count for nine in the fourth and five in the fifth round.

Australian Gets Award
PARISH STADIUM, July 5.—"Digger" Evans of Australia was awarded the decision yesterday over Maria Rieatti of Italy, in the final match of the bantamweight boxing contest.

Easy For Joe Lynch
JERSEY CITY, N. J., July 5.—Joe Lynch, the New York bantamweight, easily outpointed Charley Beecher in an eight-round bout here yesterday.

The Call'em

Boy, Page Mr. Valger

Benny Valger, the French Flash, flashed a new one on the management of the Crescent club yesterday afternoon, when he sneaked out just a minute or two before he was due to step into the ring against Harry Carlson of Brooklyn.

His rapid automobile trip to Boston undoubtedly was a cooler dash than facing Carlson for 12 rounds (maybe less) but he doesn't stand a chance of ever appearing here again.

And Lowell has been pretty good to Valger, too. Boston men present wagged their heads knowingly and intimated that Valger didn't care much about facing Carlson's stuff.

Glad $100,000 Worth

A week or so ago Jess Willard's wife was pictured at her snug little home in Kansas, there to remain until her big husband flashed her the happy news after the big bout that he still remained the undefeated king. How fast does twist up things. Mrs. Willard was at the ringside, saw her "big boy" whipped by a man 50 pounds inferior in weight and after the curtain had rung down, helped bathe his wounds, saying the while that she was glad Dempsey won and that Jess had left the right game for good and all. He has that, for good and also for all time.

park yesterday afternoon Messrs. Roach and Conway thought how nice it would be if the same number of fans attended every game. Yes, "would be nice. Not that they care about the money involved, but just to create an incentive for the players to do their best work. Well, this much is sure, the team deserves the patronage, every whit of it. Yesterday's victory, while Lawrence was losing twice, moved Hayden's team up into third place.

The Stigma of Quitting

How much more sympathy and friendliness would be felt for Willard today if he had gone down fighting. The world loves a game man. True, he was in no condition to continue the battle, but if only he had walked out to meet the challenger in the fourth

He stopped at his own volition, for even though his seconds threw up the towel for him, he could have appealed to the referee that their action was without his sanction and that he wished to continue.

Not Through Yet

Meanwhile Dempsey says he is doing, that he will never pull on a glove again now that he has attained the limit of his ambition. Don't believe it. His career has been shorter than any previous champion and he will not be able to drop the game after scarcely two years of active participation. If he was old, it would be different, but he has

THE WOMAN THOU GAVEST ME

AT MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Charming Ann Pennington in "The Antics of Ann" and Bessie Barriscale in "The Heart of Rachel" will be the leading attractions at the Merrimack Square theatre tomorrow afternoon and evening and an excellent surrounding program will also be included.

"The Woman Thou Gavest Me" Hall Caine's remarkable success as a novel, will be shown on the screen at this theatre on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday with an all-star cast portraying the various leading characters in the great drama. Katherine MacDonald, a beautiful and talented actress well known to Paramount and Artistic audiences, has the leading woman's role and playing opposite to her is Milton Sills, a well known leading man who is seen as Martin Conrad, an explorer. Jack Holt has the role of Lord Raa, an unscrupulous English nobleman, and Theodore Roberts, the "grand old man of the screen," has one of the best roles of his career, that of a revengeful and heartless old man. Fritz Brunette, an actress of charm and wide experience, is seen as a beautiful adventuress, while Katherine Griffith, a playmate of exceptional merit, plays the part of Aunt Bridget.

The story of "The Woman Thou Gavest Me" is a most appealing one and is as follows: Daniel MacNeill, a crofter's son, suffers in his childhood from the cruelty of the landlord, "the bad Lord Raa." He vows that when he grows up he will pull down the pride of the house of Raa. He goes to America, where he becomes a multimillionaire. He returns to Scotland, where he buys the debt-ridden Castle Raa. The wish of his heart is to have a son to carry on his feud. But in this wish he is disappointed. His only child is a daughter, Mary.

When Mary has reached young womanhood, Daniel arranges to marry her to the penniless young Lord Raa. Raa, who has no inconvenient scruples of honor, sets an appointment to the India civil service. He makes this an excuse to bid Mary to return to Scotland, while he himself leaves for India—with Alma, Mary and Martin, left Conrad together, acknowledge their love for each other, and believing fully that this love is their justification—that in the sight of heaven they are man and wife—go to each other's arms.

Raa meantime has been in India. With Alma, whom he has brazenly introduced as his wife. When this trick is discovered, he is obliged to leave India. He returns to England with Alma, and here finds that Mary has married him with what he wanted. He settles down to be happy with Alma, and ultimately Mary obtains a divorce in France.

But Martin Conrad is not dead. Rescued at the eleventh hour, he comes back to England a hero and immediately starts a frantic search for Mary. He finds Raa, who has so vilified her, and avenges her by beating Raa up in the presence of his mistress who hasly deserts him.

Mary has been "lone sunk to such depths of poverty that her child is dying for lack of the little money needed to buy proper food and medicine. Mary goes out upon the streets at night to save her child by selling herself. The first man that she meets, coarse to approach proves to be Martin himself. Thus re-united, Martin and Mary are enabled to marry, and with their child they sail away for undiscovered lands.

MUST PAY SPECIAL TAXES THIS MONTH

In order that there might be no necessity of penalties being imposed upon federal taxpayers, Division Deputy Collector J. J. Foley asked The Sun today to call attention to the fact that all special taxes must be paid this month. This includes the taxes in effect for several years on proprietors of pool rooms, dealers in oleomargarine, cigar manufacturers, proprietors of theatres, public exhibitions, etc., and also the comparatively new taxes assessed on motor boats and automobiles held for hire. Deputy Collector Foley is in the local postoffice every Monday from 9 to 12.30 or forms may be mailed direct to John F. Malley, collector, Boston, Mass.
